Dollar gains on markets

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. dollar gained strength on Europe's official currency exchanges today, and at least one money expert said the dollar was "finding itself."
The dollar's fixing price on the Frankfurt market was 2.8320 German marks, the highest dollar quotation since the official money exchanges reopened Monday from a two-week closure.
On the Paris exchange, the dollar opened slightly lower at 4.4875-4.4975 French francs, then began bouncing back.
"I think the dollar has been finding itself this week," said one

Jury returns 23 indictments

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (UPI) — A federal grand jury today returned new indictments charging 23 individuals with "crimes at Wounded Knee" as government negotiators sought an agreement "in principle" to end the 22-day seizure of this village by militant Indians.
The new indictments, announced by U.S. Attorney William Clayton at Sioux Falls, S.D., brought to 54 the number under indictment.

Millionaire 'bankrupt'

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Charles Steen, 53, who found the biggest uranium deposit in U.S. history in 1952 with a borrowed geiger counter, was declared bankrupt in federal court Tuesday.
Steen said he will appeal the ruling. Figures presented in court listed assets of $7.2 million and debts of $1.3 million but a trustee said his property is valued at $3.2 million.

Cambodian aide arrested

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Former Deputy Premier Gen. Sisowath Srik Matak has been placed under house arrest and denied communications with the outside world, military police said today.
Matak, a cousin of deposed Cambodian Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk, is a longtime close friend and adviser to President Lon Nol. He and Lon Nol joined forces to overthrow Sihanouk on March 18, 1970.

Danish workers strike

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Denmark's biggest labor conflict in 37 years began today when about 250,000 workers went on strike or were locked out after union and employer groups failed to agree on new two-year work contracts.
Danes were immediately faced with the prospect of no newspapers, no private ferries or buses, no automobile repairs and idle dockyards and slaughterhouses.

Lindy Boggs wins election

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Lindy Boggs, 56, became the first congresswoman elected in Louisiana Tuesday.
Mrs. Boggs was elected to fill the seat of her late husband, House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, who is missing and presumed dead in an Alaskan plane crash. She held a lead of 42,583 to 10,352 votes over Republican opponent Robert E. Lee with all but a handful of the state's precincts reporting.

Panel extension sought

SAIGON (UPI) — A 45 day extension of the four party Joint Military Commission will be proposed by the United States, informed sources said here.
The four power commission, formed to supervise the peace in Vietnam following the truce in January, was scheduled to dissolve in one week. So far it has accomplished little aside from prisoner of war releases.

UN seeks compromise

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Faced with the possibility of a U.S. veto, U.N. Security Council delegates worked into the early hours today on a compromise Canal Zone resolution that the United States will accept.
"I still see no resolution that I can support," U.S. Ambassador John Scall told newsmen Tuesday night as he left a late session of the Council, meeting in Latin America for the first time.

Flood traps English miners

WAKEFIELD, England (UPI) — A sudden flooding trapped seven miners in the Lofthouse coal mine today and authorities began immediate rescue operations in hope they may be trapped in an air pocket. Eight other miners scrambled to safety as the water rushed in.

Court OK's property tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled "constitutional" today the use of local property taxes to finance public schools.

The Court split 5 to 4 in the decision.
In a Texas case, the Court had been asked to decide that the system that tends to ignore differences between rich and poor school districts violated the Constitution's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

Speaking for the five-man majority, Justice Lewis P. Powell Jr. said the system is concededly imperfect, but said it bears a rational relationship to a legitimate state purpose.

Powell said that while assuring basic education for every child in the state, it permitted and encouraged participation in and significant control of each district's school at the local level.

Only Hawaii of all the states finances its schools directly out of state revenues. Other states lean heavily on local property taxes.

Critics of the system argued that school districts with valuable property can provide a high-quality education at a low tax rate, while those with low value property must get along with inferior schools even though the tax rate is higher.

Dissenters in the decision were Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall.

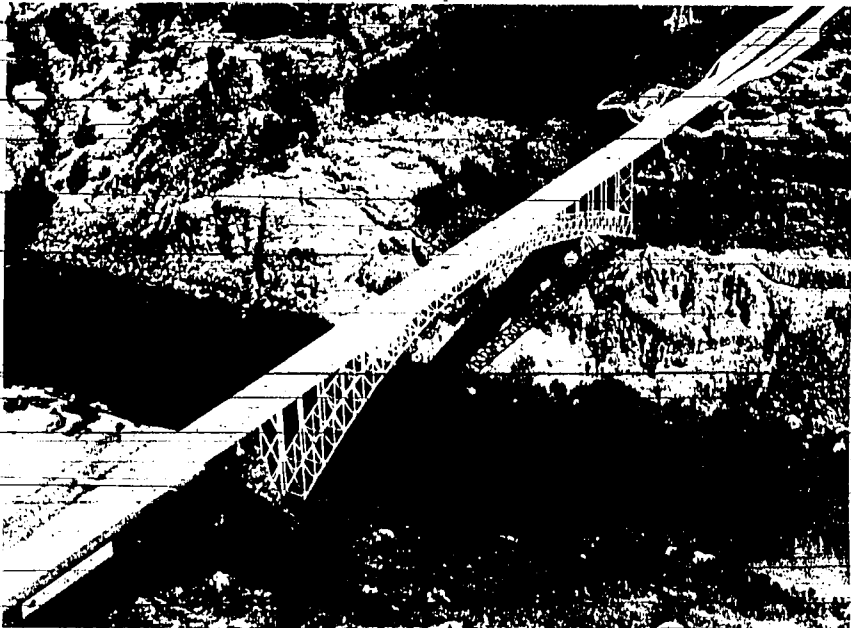

In his majority opinion, Powell declared: "We hardly need add that this Court's action today is not to be viewed as placing its judicial imprimatur on the status quo. The need is apparent for reform in tax systems which may well have relied too long and too heavily on the local property tax.

"And certainly innovative new thinking as to public education, its methods and its funding, is necessary to assure both a higher level of quality and greater uniformity of opportunity."

"These matters merit the continued attention of the scholars who already have contributed much by their challenges. But the ultimate solutions must come from the lawmakers and from the democratic pressures of those who

New Perrine Bridge will look like this

Hoosier firm's bid low on new Perrine Bridge

BOISE — A Hammond, Ind., construction company entered the apparent low bid of $8.47 million Tuesday to build a new 1,500 foot rim-to-rim bridge north of Twin Falls.
Allied Structural Steel Co. bid $8,476,315 for the project on U.S. 93 joining Jerome and Twin Falls counties across the Snake River.
Idaho Highway Department executive secretary Wayne Summers said six other bids were received. Hansel Phelps Construction Co., Greeley, Colo., bid $9,275,000; Willamette-Western Corp., Richmond, Calif. $9,385,739; Morrison-Knudsen Co., Boise, $9,685,050; Slottin Construction Co., Great Falls, Mont. $9,987,250; U.S. Steel Corp., San Francisco, Calif., $10,173,739; and Dravo Corp., Bellevue, Wash., $10,569,059.
Summers said the project contract will be awarded "as soon as we run them (the bids) through the computers to check for errors." The project should be awarded within the next 10 days, he said.
Builders should "move onto the job within the next 30 days," according to Summers.
R. D. Van Buskirk, plan specification and estimates writer for the highway department, said the multi-million-dollar project should take approximately three years. When completed, the bridge will have a four lane roadway.

"The old two-lane bridge will continue in use with a 22-ton load limitation until the new bridge is completed immediately east of the old structure, Van Buskirk added.
"The current bridge was built 44 years ago to carry trucks weighing no more than 25 tons.
An engineering study in 1969 reported that "a major portion of the existing bridge members have low rating values," and several members were broken, permanently distorted or weakened.
The engineering study was made under requirements of the Highway Acts of 1968 and 1970, which provided for detailed inspections of bridges to determine their safety. Prior to 1968, the federal government relied on the judgment of state highway departments to post their bridges according to weight limitations.
Until 1969 the Perrine Bridge was open to all traffic permitted to travel on state highways — including trucks weighing up to 79,000 pounds.

Living costs up sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living, led by a record 2.4 per cent increase in food prices, soared 6.6 per cent in February — the largest monthly rise in 22 years after seasonal adjustment.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, in making the report today, said food prices in supermarkets went up 2.4 per cent last month, surpassing the previous record advances of 2 per cent in January and March of 1959.

The BLS said most of the sharp rise in food prices came from meat, poultry and fish, which went up 5 per cent in February after seasonal adjustment. The largest increase since June, 1965.

There had been no expectation that the new food price report, in particular, would bring any favorable news for the administration's anti-inflation effort. Nor is any expected soon. The Cost of Living Council predicted Tuesday that food prices would continue to rise the rest of the year.

Before seasonal adjustment, the Consumer Price Index was up 0.7 per cent last month, the biggest jump since March, 1969. Food prices in supermarkets went up 2.3 per cent, down from the 2.5 per cent increase the previous month.

Prices of meat, poultry and fish increased 4.9 per cent, the highest since June of 1965.

Of the food price rise, a White House spokesman said: "The President has said it's a problem. We know it's a problem. We're taking steps to deal with it."

The BLS said the higher food prices accounted for almost two thirds of the increase in the cost of living last month, with increases for fuel oil, gasoline, rent, clothing and property taxes accounting for most of the rest.

Eggs were the only major food commodity to show a drop in price in February, the BLS said.

Using unadjusted figures, food prices in February were 8 per cent above a year earlier, with prices of meats, poultry and fish 13.1 per cent above February, 1972. Commodities other than food were 2.6 per cent above a year earlier, while prices of services rose 3.3 per cent over the last 12 months.

The Consumer Price Index at the end of February stood at 124.5, which meant goods and services costing $10 in 1967 sold for $12.45 last month — an increase of 24.5 per cent in six years. The CPI in February was 3.9 per cent above a year earlier, far in excess of the administration's Phase II price increase guideline of 2.5 per cent.

The BLS said average weekly earnings of rank and file workers more than kept up with the increased cost of living in February, rising 1.4 per cent to give wage earners about a 0.6 per cent increase in the purchasing power of their gross weekly earnings.

Guards freed

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — Maximum security inmates released five hostage guards unharmed at the West Virginia Penitentiary today, ending a two-day siege that left at least one prisoner dead and two others wounded.

In return, the inmates were given personal assurances by Gov. Arch Moore that 12 or 13 of their 15 demands might be met. Moore flew here from Charleston, the state capital, at midmorning to negotiate with representatives of about 35 hard-core prisoners who had taken the guards hostage at about 7:30 a.m., MST, Tuesday.

Moore said the hostages were released to him at about 9:15 a.m. following three hours of negotiations.

Smuggling charged

LEWISTON (UPI) — A decision on whether to bind a University of Idaho student over for trial in U.S. District Court on charges of gun smuggling was under consideration today by U.S. Magistrate Eli B. Ponack.
Ponack took the matter under advisement Tuesday following a preliminary hearing for Marshall Anderson, 21, Moscow.

Anderson is charged with receiving two M16 rifles, a 45-caliber Thompson submachinegun, a Russian AK-47 assault rifle, an AR15 rifle, a 45-caliber pistol and a rocket launcher. Officers allege the weapons were sent to him last month by his brother in Vietnam.

The weapons were found by customs agents in Anderson's residence at Moscow but he said he had never served in the military and did not know how to assemble the weapons.

Anderson was released on his own recognizance pending further action in the case.

Senators endorse rent lid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to give President Nixon broad powers to control the economy for another year, but only if rent controls are part of the package.

In an 85 to 2 vote Tuesday night, the Senate approved and sent to the House a bill that would extend for 12 months the President's authority to impose wage and price controls. That authority expires April 30.

The action came during a continuing controversy over the rate of inflation. Under the administration's Phase II economic program, which uses largely voluntary controls, prices — particularly those for food — have shown large increases.

There was expected to be more of this bad news today when the government issued its Consumer Price Index (CPI) for February.

Mr. T-N says

Hopefully, unlike the Hansen Bridge, the new Perrine Bridge will have railings that permit a look into the canyon.

Snow fall ignores calendar

TWIN FALLS — Snowfall covered Magic Valley today, ignoring the calendars' claim that it was the second day of spring.

Weather Bureau officials at Kimberly said a storm system which has been hovering over the western Idaho border for two days began moving eastward last night, reaching Magic Valley about 4 a.m. today.

Cong slates POW release

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong said today it would release the 32 American prisoners it is still holding in Hanoi on Saturday, four days before the deadline.

Sources close to the Joint Military Commission (JMC) said earlier today the Communists will turn over to the United States a list of the last remaining war prisoners, on Thursday, clearing the way for their release this weekend.

There had been no firm date on a release for the men held by the Viet Cong until the Viet Cong statement today.

Capt. Phuong Nam, the Viet Cong press officer, said the list of the 32 prisoners would be turned over Thursday and the release of the men would follow 48 hours later at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport.

Nam said the Viet Cong also holds one South Korean who will be released Sunday at Duc Pho, 307 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Communists still hold 146 Americans, including six civilians.

The JMC sources said the North Vietnamese might also release their list of prisoners Thursday, clearing the way for the last group to go home on Saturday.

Turnover of the names of the POWs and the date and place of their release would clear the way for resumption of the U.S. troop withdrawal program. The "Operation Countdown" program has been suspended until the United States receives the final list of POWs. About 6,000 U.S. servicemen are still in Vietnam.

Under terms of the Jan. 28 cease-fire agreement, all prisoners on both sides are to be freed by March 28.

Property taxes to go on footing bill

Marshall, in the main dissenting opinion, said the decision "can only be seen as a retreat from our historic commitment to equality of educational opportunity and an unwarranted acquiescence in a system which deprives children in their earliest years of the chance to reach their full potential as citizens."

Texas finances its public schools through both state and local participation. The state provides about half the funds and each district supplements them through a property tax.

The Texas case was initiated in 1980 by 15 parents and children who protested use of the property tax for financing schools in San Antonio's Edgewood Independent School District, a Mexican-American community. A special three-judge federal court which ruled in their favor was reversed by the Powell opinion. The lower federal panel said that despite its high tax rate, Edgewood produced a meager $21 per pupil from local property taxes, while a lower rate in more affluent Alamo Heights provided $307 per pupil.

A similar ruling was handed down by the California Supreme Court in 1971 in a case which went back to Los Angeles and was recently tried there.

The Texas panel found that wealth was "suspect" classification, as race had been found by the Supreme Court to be suspect when constitutional rights it deems "fundamental" have been denied.

Powell held, however, that the Texas system did not disadvantage any "suspect" class of people. He said it had not been shown to discriminate against any definable class of poor.

He said further, that the school financing system did not interfere with a fundamental right or liberty because education was not within the limited category of rights guaranteed by the constitution.

He also emphasized that the lawsuit involved most difficult and delicate questions of local taxation, fiscal planning, educational policy and the relationship between the federal government and the states — considerations which call for restraint on the part of the Supreme Court.

Mexican peppers halted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shipment of bell peppers from Mexico into the United States has been halted until the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) can determine they are free from illegal pesticide residues.

The FDA reported the embargo Tuesday. Spokesmen said it went into effect last Saturday, halting shipments which average about 1 million peppers daily.

The agency said samples showed 11 of 22 shipments contained residues of the pesticide Monitor 4. It said the Environmental Protection Agency has not registered the pesticide for use on peppers.

Grade teach?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Should teachers be graded? Yes, according to a survey of 490 instructors and their classes at five colleges.

Students participating in the survey, conducted by Educational Testing Service, complained that some teachers weren't concerned enough with student learning. Other gripes: some teachers aren't open enough to other viewpoints; some aren't clear enough in telling how students will be evaluated.

Nixon death penalty law would restore execution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's death penalty legislation would restore executions for such crimes as murder of a law officer, assassination of a foreign diplomat or killing for hire, the Justice Department said today.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst sent the proposed bill to the Senate and House, filling in the details of the measure which Nixon advocated last week as "an effective deterrent against specific crimes."

The bill sets strict standards to determine whether a convicted killer will live or die. Kleindienst said the measure will overcome the objections of the Supreme Court which declared capital punishment unconstitutional because of uncertainties in its application.

The bill would restore death as a possible punishment for wartime treason or espionage, for airline hijacking or kidnapping in which a victim is killed and for other murders under aggravated circumstances.

As Nixon indicated in his State of the Union report on crime, the bill would establish a two-trial procedure. The first hearing would determine guilt or innocence. If the defendant is convicted, a second hearing would be held to fix the penalty.

The bill lists five mitigating factors. If the jury determines that any one of the five is present, capital punishment would be prohibited.

TFHS girls try karate

TWIN FALLS — Twenty-five young coeds in the Twin Falls High School are not the defenseless young ladies they appear to be.

The girls are learning the ancient art of karate and will be demonstrating their abilities April 14 in a tournament at the College of Southern Idaho.

While other girls at the high school are practicing for drill team maneuvers the 25 special young ladies are in another part of the gymnasium practicing Kaji Kumi Karate jabs and kicks.

On April 14, the 50 drill-team girls will be in Idaho Falls competing for state honors while their classmates compete in karate with girls from CSI, Nampa, Boise, Caldwell and Meridian and other Twin Falls clubs.

Instructing the class are Rita Cole and Carl Blessing. Robert Tidd, karate black belt holder, attends the noon time classes each Monday and on other days when possible to give additional instructions.

For the April 14 event, O'Sensei Raymond Tobosa and Master Toby Tobosa, Honolulu, Hawaii will be in Twin Falls. The two Hawaiian brothers originated the Kaji Kumi Karate.

KARATE TRAINING is under way at the Twin Falls High School for a group of 25 high school girls. Here instructors Carl Blessing and Rita Cole demonstrate some of the attack and defense measures. Class members will be competing April 14 in a tournament at CSI.

SV sets April hearing date

SUN VALLEY — The City of Sun Valley comprehensive plan will go before a public hearing April 6.

During a meeting Tuesday night, the Sun Valley City Council set the hearing at 10 a.m. in the Moritz Community Hospital Library.

The master land use plan, a combination of the Elkhorn land use plan and approved by the council last year and a plan for Sun Valley, had been approved in concept by the council Feb. 26.

In other action Tuesday night, the council:

- Received for review the monthly financial report for the city from Ona Hiep, comptroller for the city and hospital; and a 1972 financial report for the city, hospital and water and sewer district from Stephen Bancroft, accountant representing Peterson, Seamons, Stacey and Bancroft, Twin Falls.

Bancroft told the council that the city had $10,880 in revenues over expenditures at year's end and the hospital showed $21,108 in revenues over expenditures.

Adopted an ordinance setting a maximum fine upon conviction for violation of the uniform fire code as $300 or 90 days in jail or both.

Read a letter from City Atty. Thomas Nelson, saying the city has no jurisdiction over sewer hookups through its issuance of building permits.

A letter, written in response to a question from Councilman William Innes, said because of the existence of the sewer and water district, a governmental unit furnishing the sewer system to the city, that the city has no reason to deny building permits based on uncertainties about a shared Ketchum sewage treatment plant.

Public hearing slated tonight

TWIN FALLS — Creation of a local improvement district for about $240,000 in street improvement work in Twin Falls will be aired in a public hearing Monday.

City Council members have set 7:30 p.m. as the time for an adjourned meeting to include a public hearing on the creation of the district.

City Manager Jean Miller said Monday that about one third of the $240,000 will be paid for by property owners along streets scheduled for improvement in 1973. The remainder of the cost will be paid by the city from the one-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax revenue and ad valorem tax for the street department.

Notice of intention to create ID 88, have been mailed to all property owners, stating estimates of district cost. All property owners involved have received notices.

Persons with objection to participating in the district may attend the Monday night meeting or submit their objections in writing prior to 5 p.m. Monday.

About one mile of construction is planned in the 1973 program, with sections of old and new streets included. This is slightly smaller than the 1972 program which is not yet complete and will be finished during the 1972 paving season.

Bail out!

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Two pilots of a plane transporting a 500-pound gorilla to Dallas started looking for their parachutes Tuesday when the druged animal awoke prematurely.

The DC3 airliner was an hour out of St. Louis when the gorilla, Om-Bom, blinked his eyes, raised his head and stretched his massive arms.

"The two pilots nearly bailed out," said a Dallas Zoo official, who accompanied the ape from the St. Louis Zoo.

The Dallas official gave the gorilla another injection and he dozed back off.

The 19-year-old male, who lived for 17 years at the St. Louis Zoo, was sold to the Dallas Zoo.

Area helicopter skiing planned

FAIRFIELD — Helicopter skiing will come to Soldier Mountain Sunday.

Reservations are now being accepted for Sunday rides from the top of the area's chair lift to two peaks above the resort.

David Wheeler, area manager, said this will give skiers up to an hour of downhill skiing per helicopter lift and will put them at the top of untouched powder snow.

The rides are available to any interested skier at a $15-per-ride fee and skiers may reserve one or more 'copter lifts, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing through the day.

The Sawtooth Helicopter Service will provide the helicopter lifts and Robert Sevy will be the guide for the ski tours. Members of the National Ski Patrol will also assist as guides.

Wheeler said 80 tickets are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Reservations may be made by calling Fairfield 784-0200.

Wheeler said all lifts and other facilities will be open as usual at the resort.

He said rehabilitation of cancer patients is being stressed this year. The American Cancer Crusade will be April 1-10.

The Crusade volunteers are selling a cookbook entitled "Crusader's Cookery" for $3. The book may be purchased from Mrs. Fred Faulkner.

Minidoka okays shift in units

RUPERT — Minidoka school trustees have approved a shift in high school course units required for graduation.

The change — essentially provided for a three-year (grades 10-12) high school graduation program requiring 14 course units rather than the current four-year (grades 9-12) program under which 18 units are needed for graduation, according to Supt. Dr. Darrell Hatfield.

The new program eliminates one year of required English (putting it on an elective basis), Hatfield said, and allows speech and debate courses as English credit.

Monday the school officials also set a two-district trustee election for May 15. The board seats held by Nile Maricle, current trustee chairman, and Roger Brown from districts four and one, respectively, will be filled in the election. Brown has indicated that he will seek re-election but Maricle has made no commitment.

Hatfield said no residents of the two districts have filed for the board positions yet. The filing deadline is April 27.

In other action, the board:

- Authorized the hiring of a second school psychologist.
- Set a special meeting for March 26 to discuss teacher salary schedules and preliminary budget figures.
- Purchased two 66-passenger buses from Goode Motor Inc. (chassis) and Carpenter Body Co. (bodies) for $8,929 each.

Couple, firm face court suit

TWIN FALLS — Leslie Green and Wilfred Green have filed suit in Fifth District Court against John C. Gough and Barbara Gough, husband and wife, and the real estate firm of Bailey-Roberts, Inc.

The Greens allege that on Nov. 9, 1972, they contracted through Bailey-Roberts for the purchase of a parcel of Gooding County property from the Goughs.

The Greens contend they paid $49,694.22 to Bailey-Roberts, of which they believe $39,942.83 went to the Goughs for their equity.

The Greens allege they also agreed to assume contract liabilities against the property held by previous owners Harmon G. Munyon and Jerrene M. Munyon, as well as certain bank mortgage liens.

The Greens contend that acting on the advice of Bailey-Roberts that the Munyons would concede to the agreement between themselves and the Goughs, as required under the terms of the Munyons' previous contract with the Goughs, they moved their property from Reno, Nev., to the Gooding County property and began making improvements. The Greens also contend they made periodic payments on the Munyon-Gough contract.

The Greens allege that the Munyons have not and do not intend to agree to the contract between the Greens and the Goughs, contrary to the advice given the Greens by Bailey-Roberts, and as a result Bailey-Roberts and the Goughs have "materially breached the contract and agreements of these parties as a result of which the consideration for the contracts and agreements have been frustrated and the plaintiffs are entitled to rescission and restoration of moneys paid and expenses advanced."

The Greens seek: $49,694.22 allegedly paid to Bailey-Roberts and a portion of which allegedly went to the Goughs; $4,699.49 for improvements to the property; $25,000 in damages; $10,000 in punitive damages against Bailey-Roberts, and costs of the suit.

TF car stolen

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls woman reported to police Tuesday night that her car had been stolen from the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital parking lot.

Barbara Slump reported the car, a 1968 4-door Ford Fairlane bearing 2T-23585 plates, was stolen prior to 11 p.m. Tuesday.

The car was described as light blue in color with the driver's door being a different shade of blue.

Blaine school roles defined

HAILEY — State and University of Idaho participation in the Blaine County school program and facilities study was defined before the study committee Monday night.

In attendance at the meeting were Dean R. J. Chandler, school of education at Northwestern University; Dr. Wayne Phillips, state department of public instruction; Dean Everett Samuelson, college of education, University of Idaho; Walter Hoesel, study-on-site coordinator, and the school district board of trustees.

Dr. Phillips outlined the needs assessment program which he said has been used for the past year and a half in districts throughout the state.

The program relies on community resources and residents with the program staff providing only technical assistance. Initial concerns will be identification of problems and educational priorities, he said, to determine the skills, knowledge, behaviors and values the community wants to produce in an educational system for its young.

Dr. Phillips said the prior work and information gathered through the program and facilities study will provide a strong base for the needs assessment program.

Dean Chandler also outlined the cooperative role of the University of Idaho in the school study.

Dean Samuelson, he said, will serve as an overall consultant to the study and the county schools with specialists on the university faculty serving as consultants on problem areas including educational specifications, curriculum, and school finance.

The university will also work with Dr. Phillips on a needs assessment program, Chandler said.

Eviction suit filed

ALBION — Oregon Trail Festival of the Arts (OTFA) has filed a suit for the eviction of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Rokich from their apartment on the Albion campus.

The rent and unlawful detainer suit alleges that Rokich, an opponent of the occupation of the campus by OTFA, has paid no rent and electricity bills since Jan. 1, 1972. Rokich sub-leases an apartment and connected grounds from OTFA.

The suit asks for a total of $4,050 in back rent and electricity bills plus troubled costs for undetermined damages. The suit alleges Rokich will not allow inspection of the sub-leased building.

The suit, filed by Doug Teeples, Albion, for OTFA, charges that notice was given this Feb. 8 to the Rokichs to pay the bills or quit the premises. No acknowledgement of the notice was given, according to the charges filed.

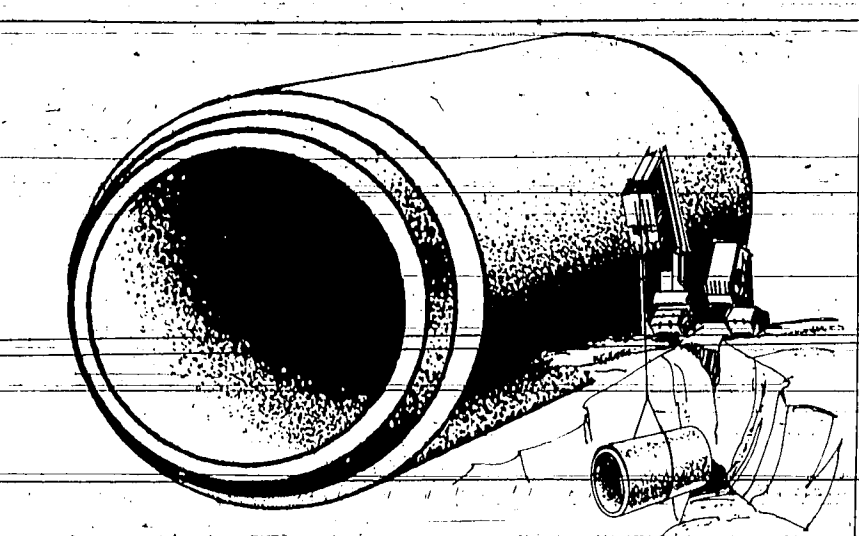

Last month, at the regular Albion City Council meeting, Rokich and Teeples exchanged heated words over the alleged "improper lease" of the campus of OTFA and alleged insurance problems.

Since that time, the lease has been found to be valid and, according to Teeples, the insurance policy is being written and any problems have been solved.

Senate Secrecy

The US Senate, as everyone knows, abhors hyper-secrecy in government affairs. It does not like bureaucrats who do things behind Congress' back or civil servants who make their own rules or presidents who make decisions that constantly leave legislators looking barn doors after stolen horses.

It turns out, though, that the Senate is willing to make an occasional exception to the general rule that the people have a right to know who is doing what with their tax money and why. That exception — can you stand the surprise? — is the good old progressive Senate itself.

When the Senate voted the other day on a reform proposal to make all its committee meetings open to the public unless the committee involved voted to close it, the secrecy forces won. Their margin of nine votes (47-38) included the leaders and whips of both parties, such staunch defenders of the public right to know as Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

The assistant Democratic leader, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, pompously opposing the reform, said that "to tamper with the rules of the Senate is to tamper with the Senate itself." This — heinous possibility, he implied, would be equivalent to wanting to make the sky purple or conspiring to cut the wings off all the butterflies.

The only rational objection Byrd offered was that opening up all meetings would inspire our distinguished senators to "grandstanding." That is, they would tend to emit grand and gross sound and fury, legislating nothing.

This might well happen at the outset (although those senators who attend the open meetings that do exist often seem to have trouble staying awake, let alone doing any worthwhile performing).

But it ought to become rapidly clear, even to a senator, that the grandstanding would have to end if anything were to be accomplished. And if nothing were accomplished with the whole country, more or less, looking on, then perhaps those senators would not be senators for very long.

But, softly. Could this be in fact what the Senate fears? That the public will find out how their system really operates and, in a fit of righteous indignation, throw the rascals out?

For the burning question remains, what do they have to hide? Short of disclosing military secrets, is there anything Senate committees would do by opening their meetings that would harm the country?

Can anyone be blamed for assuming that what the legislators are really worried about disclosing is the less-than-civics-book-pure system of compromise and clout by which the government is run?

The same dogmatic presumption of the need for secrecy keeps diplomatic meetings closed. It keeps labor-management collective bargaining sessions closed. And it helps keep things in general in something less than Utopian condition.

The leaders who say that they need secrecy to negotiate in all these areas are being arrogant, if not dishonest. The people whose lives are affected by decisions made behind closed doors have a right to know exactly how those decisions are made and why.

When the US House of Representatives, of all people, can move to open all its meetings unless committee members vote against doing so, the Senate should be ashamed — and should be rebuked — for refusing to do so.

As Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., one of the reform supporters, said, "Excessive secrecy breeds distrust. It prevents accountability. It does violence to the principle of government based on the informed consent of the governed."

Those Mobile Homes

There is now every indication that the Mobile Homes are coming into their own. For years they have been treated as the "poor stepchild" but those days are now gone.

January shipments of mobile homes from manufacturers to retailers reached a record 40,700 dwellings, a strong increase of 22 per cent over the number of homes delivered in January, 1972. A grand total of 589,155 mobile homes were delivered in 1972, an increase of 19 per cent over 1971. Private housing starts for January totaled 75,100.

Florida, Texas and California get the bulk of the mobile homes. Florida had some 50,000 deliveries in 1972 while Texas and California accounted for approximately 7 per cent of all the shipments.

Surveys indicate that 2.8 million mobile homes are being used as primary residences as of June, 1972. This is more than 3.3 per cent of all households. Currently there are more than 12,000 mobile home communities with 15 or more homes. Approximately 50 per cent of all mobile homes are located in parks while the others are located on private property. The private property market is expected to grow as costs on stick-built homes continue to rise. Mobile home manufacturers say usual home construction averages about $17 a square foot while mobile home construction costs about $9.07 a square foot, including furnishings.

One interesting thing is that mobile homes are getting to look less and less like mobile homes, what with new styling and what have you. Another feature is the "tie down" facilities which now anchor them to the ground so that neither "wind not sleep" or such things can move them.

All in all it looks — the experts say — like living conditions for thousands of families are in for a change.

And if you don't think so, look at the growth of the newer mobile home parks in this section of Idaho.

NO DEALS

If an age of political terrorism has descended upon the world (there seems little doubt of it) involving diplomat hostages, murders and insurrections, greatly improved anticipatory planning on the part of governments is called for.

The prolonged insurrection at Wounded Knee; the murder of diplomats in Kartoum; the kidnapping of diplomats in Latin America — for ransom — all fit a pattern.

That pattern amounts to blackmail. Either the governments involved give in or face the consequences of a blood bath. The perpetrators involved in these incidents obviously think they have a chance of success or they would not risk such dangerous confrontations.

The Arab States Urge Leniency

WASHINGTON — The future of relations between the US and Sudan depends entirely on the "measure of justice" meted out to the eight Black September assassins. Anything short of their execution will be deemed unacceptable with consequent prompt and direct impact on the ties between the two countries.

That has been made unmistakably clear to Sudan. Officially, the US is keeping strict hands-off of Khartoum's handling of the Palestinian terrorists' cold-blooded murder of ambassador, Cleo Noel and charge d'affaires, George Moore. In its carefully restrained and guardedly correct formal dealings, Washington is proceeding on the basis that Sudan will act properly and decisively.

At the same time the US is letting it be known it is well aware that intense Arab pressure is being exerted on president Gaafar al-Nimeiry to deal leniently with the guerrilla killers. Also that the US "could not countenance" such covert activity determining the fate of the ruthless slayers of the two American diplomats. Ironically, in the forefront of the undercover effort to save the desperate lives of two Arab states closely aligned with the US — Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, both immensely oil-rich, both ruled by monarchs, and both large contributors to Al Fatah and the maniacal Black Septemberists.

Also highly significant is that Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, distant from Sudan, being separated by sea and desert, are taking the lead in behalf of the Khartoum killers — instead of Egypt and Libya, which border on Sudan.

Not these two Arab powers are at icy odds with the Nimeiry regime and in no position to do any pressuring.

That is particularly so regarding oil-rich Libya — another big donor to the Palestinian terrorists. Last year, Sudan and Libya openly clashed when the former refused to allow Libyan troops to be airlifted over Sudan to help Ugandan president Idi Amin in a border war with Tanzania.

And last week, president Nimeiry, in his irate broadcast exhorting the Noel-Moore assassins, went out of his way to castigate Libya and, inferentially, heap scorn and derision on its strongman ruler Col. Muammar Qaddafi.

Immediate aim of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait is to avert a death sentence against the eight Palestinian slayers.

The strategy behind that is to play time for their lives.

In the parleying with Khartoum authorities, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait concede the killers of Noel, Moore and Belgian charge d'affaires Guy Eid cannot go unpunished. The Sudanese are highly sensitive about their sovereignty, and in Nimeiry's broadcast he particularly stressed outrage at that being violated.

So the Saudi and Kuwait negotiators are craftily proposing that the murderers be given heavy jail sentences — from which in a few years, when the bloodthirsty incident has been forgotten and world attention is focused elsewhere, they could be quietly pardoned.

As Saudi and Kuwait are suavely counseling, this plan would be a canny way out of the dilemma. They argue it would save Sudan's face, placate the US, at least in some measure, and win favor with the Arabs.

What Nimeiry does remains to be seen. Time will tell the fateful story.

The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts is back at the public trough again.

This time it is for a relatively "small" handout — $22,500 for holly shrubs.

The hardy and prickly plants will replace ivy which originally was installed in more than 14,000 square feet of planters bordering two levels of the huge marble structure on the Potomac River. The expensive ivy was largely destroyed by wild garlic, yellow clover, dandelions and debris from theater and concert goers, including discarded cocktail glasses.

So — the National Park Service, now in charge of upkeep of the center, at $500,000 per annum cost to taxpayers, decided to replace the ravaged ivy with holly.

The $22,500 outlay for it is the center's latest go-round at the public till. Its previous takes, over a period of years, total more than $13 million.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Heart Failure

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman in my early 70s and have developed heart failure. I feel fair, and think my doctor has done a real good thing with me.

I want to know if there is some kind of exercise and a diet that would build my heart and body. Mrs. F. P.

"Heart failure" like a good many other conditions has to be viewed in the sense of how severe it is. A person can be "lame," and it can mean that he limps or it can mean that he can't walk at all.

So it is with heart failure. There is some damage to your heart; there has to be some limitation on the amount of physical exertion you can tolerate. You have, in other words, a decrease in the reserve power in your heart which you formerly could call on when you needed it.

Just how much exercise you can and should have is something that I can't specify as well as your doctor can because I haven't examined you, haven't run tests on you, and haven't had a chance to see how soon you start to huff and puff when you do exercise.

As a general rule, when you feel short of breath — from exertion, or if you feel your heart start to labor, it's a sign that you've had enough exertion and it is time to rest. Certainly never let yourself get to the point of feeling faint or starting to black out. Then you've gone too far!

My answer has to be: exercise — but stay inside those limits.

Don't look for some particular type of exercise that is going to help your heart. So far as your heart is concerned, exercise is exercise. Your heart provides circulation for ALL of your body, and it can't tell the difference if the exercise involves your legs or some other part of your body. It's the amount that matters.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In medical programs on TV I hear the term STAT. I can't tell by the situation that it means to hurry, or immediately, but what do the initials really stand for? Is the term actually used in real hospitals? — V. T. M.

Yes, the term is commonly used. Those aren't initials, though. "Stat" is an abbreviation of the Latin word "statim," meaning at once or immediately.

Dear Doctor: Is it possible to become pregnant during your period? If so, does your period stop right then or does it finish its run? — H. T.

The usual answer is no — except that I've been informed of a scattering of cases in which it has occurred. The period does not stop instantly.

"CONTROLS? WHAT ABOUT CONTROLS?"

RAY CROMLEY

Master At Cutting

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is now beginning to use on his political enemies in Congress the same techniques he employed to end the Vietnam war. Except that he has no domestic "Kissinger."

As was demonstrated in Southeast Asia, Mr. Nixon is master at cutting off an opponent's rear — diplomatically. Hanoi's ability to carry on full-scale conventional war was made difficult when Moscow and Peking decided their own national interests demanded they take advantage of Mr. Nixon's open door.

Mr. Nixon used the same technique to handle his own opponents at home. He did little to stop them from claiming he was intensifying the war, that Kissinger's negotiations were trickery, that he was bombing the dikes and carpet bombing the north when, in fact, the data was available to destroy these charges.

What Mr. Nixon did then was let his enemies take their far-off stands. He encouraged these radical positions, in fact, by the deliberate shucker methods he employed. When his opponents were well out in left field, he let time shut them out.

Domestically, Mr. Nixon is again attempting the bombshell approach — to force his opponents into disorganized extreme positions. First, there was his revolutionary proposal to end or drastically curtail 100 or so social and other pet programs instituted over the years and held dear by many of his opponents — then substitute a radical new approach.

His opposition fell into the Nixon trap. Instead of moving in with improved proposals of their own, many defended what, in the main, are indefensible programs — with histories of failure so lurid that many beneficiaries would shudder.

Mr. Nixon may not win his battles on the domestic welfare, job training, medical, housing and other programs he's attacking. But if his opponents persist in beating their breasts for programs that most believe to be so inefficient as to be unwarranted, then these politicians will destroy their own credibility and lose some share of their political base.

In the first flush of excitement, many people are likely to believe Mr. Nixon's opponents when they claim he is slashing the federal government's aid to the poor and unfortunate. But the counter reaction may be all the greater when they discover the Nixon proposals call for more money, not less, and voters learn that they have been deceived by simplistic attacks.

It's an old technique in politics which often works. Mr. Nixon's advantage is the greater because he has, both internationally and domestically, carefully, logically and systematically developed a reputation for being unpredictable. Actually, friends say, he agonizes over each step in a most careful way.

PAUL HARVEY

The Mishmash

Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris is seeking to organize a citizen's tax revolt.

He says members of Congress, considering tax reform, hear from corporations and unions and lobbying organizations — all those special interests which benefit from keeping things complicated. He says the congressmen need to hear from you.

Let's let our Every commissioner of internal revenue since Coleman Andrews has urged simplification of our tax system — after he's out of office.

While in office, each persists in perpetuating the cumbersome, costly, complicated, tables of allowable deductions which require you to waste hours each week keeping records, and to spend money each year hiring somebody to compute your imbalance.

And the professional expert is no guarantee you won't go to jail.

When he was treasury secretary, John Connally spotted checked income tax returns prepared by professional tax services and found 67 per cent to be "fraudulent."

IRS Commissioner Johnnie Walters offers more government help to taxpayers.

He agrees that the average American taxpayer "should not have to pay for having his individual return prepared." Walters is keeping IRS offices open nights and Sundays to help you complete your return — but, undercover for The Wall Street Journal, a taxpayer took identical figures to five different IRS offices and got five different answers!

Ex-Sen. Harris, however laudatory his objective, already has one foot in the bear trap. While he says he's seeking ideas from us, he's looking to sell us his. Soak the rich.

Once a politician always. Harris is for closing "loopholes" for the rich and reducing taxes for the poor.

And the ex-senator hopes to create a pressure group of people to help implement his ideas.

Let's really simplify the tax take.

I don't mean a revision of the tax form. They simplified the 1040 in 1969 and by 1971 they had to resurrect it because its replacement was even more complicated.

Let's put a ceiling on all taxes, federal and other, and allow no deductions to anybody for anything.

Businesses, of course, have overhead to compute; farmers are businesses.

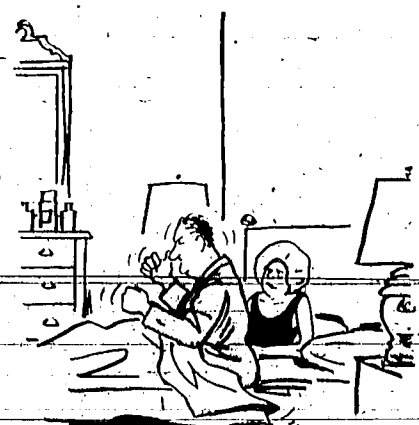

But the individual wage earner could agree to give Uncle Sam 25 per cent of all personal income — which he does now anyway — making no deductions.

For each dollar of earned or other income that comes in, two bits is set aside for the tax man.

And all those tens of thousands of accountants and lawyers and IRS examiners would be freed for productive jobs.

And blue April would be green again.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Spiro, wake up! You've been having another dream about John Connally switching parties!"

Post choice okay stalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House and the Senate Judiciary Committee are at an impasse over the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be permanent FBI director, and it could stall his approval indefinitely.

"It doesn't look good for Mr. Gray," a committee spokesman said. "There are some other people the committee would like to hear, but they are in no hurry to act or to vote."

Gray resumes testimony today (8:30 a.m. MST) before the committee but he was reportedly discouraged by the restrictions placed on his testimony by his boss, Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, to limit his testimony on the Watergate investigation.

The Watergate case has become a principle issue in Gray's appearance before the Congress and may determine whether he is finally approved by the Senate for the job he has held in an acting capacity for ten months.

In testimony Tuesday, Gray appealed for a decision on his nomination. "We do have to reach a point of finality where members of the committee must vote up or down. I think I'm entitled to some kind of judgment," he said.

Kleindienst last Friday rescinded Gray's offer to let any member of the Senate see the FBI files of the Watergate investigation. Also at issue was President Nixon's refusal to permit White House counsel John W. Dean III to appear before the committee to discuss his independent investigation of the break-in and bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters last June 17.

In a Senate speech, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., Gray's sponsor and a member of a special Senate Watergate investigating committee, said "I don't think there is any question that Pat Gray's chances have diminished."

A spokesman for Gray insisted that he was "in to stay" even if the committee delays action on his nomination until 1974 when the Congressional investigation of the Watergate matter is to be completed.

ITT investigations continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Telephone and Telegraph Company (ITT) offered the White House at least $1 million dollars in 1970 for use in any U.S. program it might devise to assist American businesses operating in Chile. Senate investigators have been told.

Jack D. Neal, director of international relations for ITT, told the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Multinational Corporations Tuesday that an offer "in sums up to seven figures" was made to the office of Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, in September, 1970. He said the money was "to assist in any plan the U.S. government might formulate for anything the government might do in connection with private business."

John J. McCone, the former Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) director now on the ITT board, was to testify today as investigations continued into allegations ITT tried to prevent the election of Marxist Salvador Allende as president of Chile or cause his downfall within six months after election.

Neal said the offer to the White House had the approval of ITT President Harold Geenen. However, there is no indication that the White House ever accepted the offer.

Neal, a State Department official for 35 years before joining ITT eight years ago, was vague about what sort of program ITT hoped the administration would enact.

"We were interested in fair compensation for our property," Neal said when questioned by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, subcommittee chairman.

Neal's testimony centered around a memo he had written Sept. 14, 1970, to W.H. Merriam, ITT Vice President then in charge of Washington operations.

In it, Neal said that on the previous Friday he had telephoned Mr. Kissinger's office, and talked with "Pete" Vaky, who is the State Department's Latin American advisor to Kissinger.

After saying he informed Vaky "we have heard rumors of moves by the Children's military," Neal said "Mr. Vaky said there has been a lot of thinking about the Chile situation and that it is a real tough one for the U.S."

"I admitted we understand the difficulty of the U.S.

position but we hope the White House, State, etc., will take a neutral position, or not discourage, in the event Chile or others attempt to save the situation," the memo said.

"I told Mr. Vaky to tell Mr. Kissinger Mr. Geenen is willing to come to Washington to discuss ITT's interest and that we are prepared to assist financially," the memo said.

Wagner won't give race nod

NEW YORK (UPI) — The way was open today for Robert F. Wagner three times the city's Democratic mayor and the son of a liberal Democratic senator of the 1930s—to run for mayor on the Republican ticket.

But Wagner has yet to say if he's in the race.

The latest roadblock to Wagner's running on the GOP ticket fell Tuesday when the five Republican county chairmen from New York City announced after a six-hour meeting at the governor's mansion in Albany that they would support this mayoral bid.

Four of the five previously had said they did not want Wagner to run, calling him such things as "retread" and "maron." But after the meeting, held at the urging of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, they issued the brief statement supporting Wagner.

Rockefeller, who did not attend Tuesday's meeting, has suggested that Wagner would make a good fusion candidate for mayor, running on both the Republican and Liberal ballots. The Liberal party nominated Wagner Monday night.

Wagner, 62, has maintained a public position that he has not made up his mind whether to run, but a source close to Rockefeller said Tuesday "quite obviously Rockefeller would not have made Wagner a candidate if he did not think he would run."

Boyle gives testimony

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle, aging former United Mine Workers president, denied Tuesday he secretly started a defense fund for an indicted union official to keep from being implicated in the 1969 Yablonski slayings.

Testifying for the first time in a series of Yablonski trials, Boyle was the first defense witness called in the murder trial of William J. Prater, a former UMW District 19 field organizer.

Defense attorney H. David Rothman indicted he may call Prater to the stand today along with Aubran Martin, a convicted triggerman in the slayings of Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Under sometimes heated cross-examination by special prosecutor Richard Sprague, Boyle said no fund existed for

TONY BOYLE testifies

Belfast youths shot by gunmen

BELFAST (UPI) — "White Paper Day" ended, like so many others during the past 3½ years, in violence and death.

Gunmen firing from a passing car in a Roman Catholic area killed a 16-year-old Catholic youth late Tuesday and critically wounded a 15-year-old youth walking with the victim.

The slaying came hours after a White Paper published by the British government outlined plans for the political future of the province, gripped since mid-1969 by bombings, shootings and rioting.

The death raised the toll in the religious and political strife to 753.

The Belfast shooting, which followed the pattern of many previous attacks, came as Northern Irish politicians and extremists in the north studied the proposals outlined by Britain.

British security forces took preventive measures Tuesday to prevent any trouble coinciding with the White Paper announcement and rounded up several extremists who might have inspired violence.

Spokesmen for Catholic and Protestant organizations said they would announce their official verdicts on the British proposals later today.

But William Craig, the chairman of the Protestant extremist Ulster Loyalist Council, immediately denounced the proposals as unacceptable.

"Now we shall set about making them unworkable," he said.

Bombers collide

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (UPI) — Two F111 fighter-bombers from Cannon Air Force Base, N.M., collided in flight near Holbrook Tuesday night and crashed in three miles of fire, authorities reported.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Wednesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1973 with 285 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars, Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aries.

German composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born on March 21, 1685.

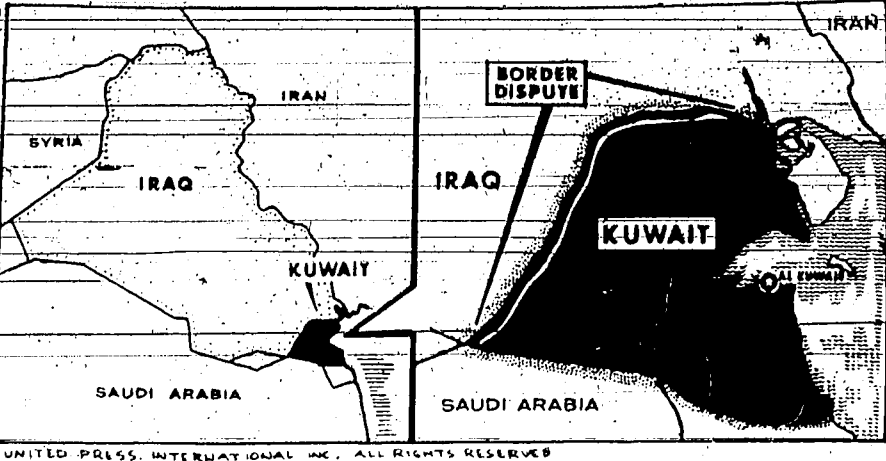

On this day in history:

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia became the first U.S. Secretary of State. He later was the third president of the United States.

In 1945, 7,000 Allied planes dropped more than 12,000 tons of explosives on Germany during a World War II daytime bombing raid.

In 1962, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev pledged that Russia would cooperate with the United States in peaceful exploration of space.

A thought for the day: American statesman Charles Sumner said, "There is the national flag. He must be cold, indeed, who can look upon its folds rippling in the breeze without pride of country."

Mid East trouble flares

United Press International

Ten men thought to be Palestinian guerrillas attacked a Lebanese army checkpoint near the Israeli border in South Lebanon early today. Palestinian sources said the attackers were not guerrillas but were smugglers or persons trying to stir up trouble between Lebanon and the Palestinians.

The Lebanese said two soldiers were killed and one wounded.

The latest crisis between the Lebanese army and the guerrillas based in southern Lebanon came as Lebanese, Egyptian and Arab League officials worked to cool a tense border situation between Iraq and Kuwait, described by Arab political sources as the worst crisis between the two countries in 10 years.

The semi-official Egyptian Middle East News Agency (MENA) said the Kuwaiti Council of Ministers held an urgent meeting today to consider the crisis.

A dispatch from Damascus said Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam flew to Baghdad today on a special mediation mission aimed at resolving the current crisis between Iraq and Kuwait. Syria called on the two countries to

Cambodian supply route severed by Communists

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces attacked four government positions along Highway 5 today, severing the vital rice supply route 25 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. U.S. warplanes, including B52s, struck Communist targets for the 14th consecutive day.

On Highway 2, a major government road south of the capital, the Cambodian high command said government forces attacked Communist positions and advanced to the beleaguered provincial capital of Takeo.

The National Assembly meanwhile approved a government request to extend for another

Campaign launched

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The government launched a nationwide campaign Tuesday to save the Biblical land of milk and honey from becoming a land of smog and oil slicks.

The campaign coincided with Earth Day, a date set aside to draw attention to environmental problems and the pollution issue. Earth Day is not officially observed in Israel.

The first step in the anti-pollution campaign began with a cabinet resolution on ecology that set up a body to deal with ecological problems.

The decision marked a change in the traditional priorities of governments previously more preoccupied with such issues as security, the absorbing of immigrants and building a nation growing too fast for its planners.

The government body will include experts in biology, chemistry, engineering, economics, systems analysis and sociology. A cabinet communique said Prime Minister Golda Meir will appoint its chairman and he will report directly to her.

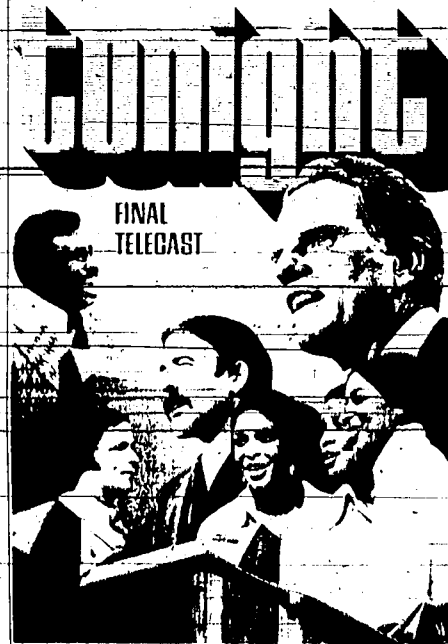

Tuesday night and crashed in three miles of fire, authorities reported.

The fate of the crew members was not immediately known. The swing-wing F111s normally carry two crew members.

The Navajo County sheriff's office said only that "aircraft wreckage" was on the ground three miles north of Holbrook. Townspeople reported hearing an explosion and seeing the planes fall in what one man described as three balls of fire.

At Cannon, located near Glavis in eastern New Mexico, the Air Force issued an official statement saying that two F111s "accidentally collided at about 9:21 p.m. (MST) tonight near Holbrook, Ariz. The status of the air crews is not known at this time."

The statement said the cause of the crash remained "undetermined" and an investigation would be conducted by an appointed board of officers.

Now kids can look it up in their own Funk & Wagnalls.

After 60 years of making encyclopedias for adults, Funk & Wagnalls has learned enough to make one for children.

It's called the Young Students Encyclopedia. And it's designed to do something more than just get them through the next homework assignment—to make them want to learn on their own.

Instead of burdening your children with tons of forgettable detail, it appeals to their native curiosity. The article on Airplanes, for example, illustrates an experiment children can perform at home showing how things fly. There are hundreds of other drawings, games and puzzles that not only teach but provoke, involve and entertain in the process.

In other words, it's an encyclopedia children will actually use. They'll also use it a long time. It's designed to be simple enough for children just learning to read and comprehensive enough to serve until they're ready for an adult encyclopedia. They can't outgrow it the way they do shoes.

Which brings up another nice point about the Young Students Encyclopedia: it's intended exclusively to help children, but it helps grown-ups too.

First, it doesn't put much of a dent in your budget. Since it's sold direct to you through us, you can buy the complete 20-volume set a volume or two a week for only $1.89 each. And the first volume for the introductory price of nine cents.

Second, it helps prevent you from doing what you shouldn't be doing anyway—your children's homework. It provides the answers; you just provide the encouragement.

So instead of just shopping for things to nourish growing bodies, come in and pick up a Young Students Encyclopedia. And nourish their minds as well.

Resource hearings planned by Church

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Tuesday announced hearings will be held in June and July on the final report of the National Water Commission.

The hearings will be conducted by the Senate Interior Subcommittee on Water and Power Resources of which Church is chairman.

Church said a review draft of the report has been widely circulated and discussed in public meetings held by the commission and has caused considerable controversy.

Areas of criticism centered on the report's critical attitude toward existing federal water programs and its sweeping recommendations for a diminished federal role in flood control, municipal water supply and reclamation projects.

Church also said the draft report moves in the direction of recommending studies of water diversion from the Pacific northwest to the southwest.

The Idaho senator said he has strongly opposed such diversion.

The first hearing, beginning June 28, will take testimony from commission chairman Charles F. Luce and members of the commission. The July hearing will be held to obtain the views of the federal water resource agencies.

The commission's final report, Church said, "will doubtless raise issues of significant concern to the public and Congress. It is important that the Senate Interior Committee, which has jurisdiction over the report, have an opportunity to hear the commission's views before its term expires in September."

The report resulted from a five-year study.

Church also said "It is also essential that state and local officials, who must manage the nation's water resources, and the citizens who depend upon those resources are informed about the policy questions raised by the report and participate in the decisions which result."

For this reason, Church said, the subcommittee will hold additional public hearings after the August congressional recess to take testimony from state and local officials and citizen groups.

Court reverses

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court Tuesday reversed a Fourth District Court decision convicting John Salazar as a persistent violator of the law.

At the same time, the court upheld Salazar's conviction for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder.

Salazar was found guilty of both the assault charge and the persistent violator charge by a jury.

Judge J. Ray Dursch sentenced him to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

In his appeal, Salazar said there was no evidence submitted of one of his prior felonies. Idaho law requires evidence of three felonies before a person may be convicted as a persistent violator.

Microwave ovens pass safety check

BOISE (UPI) — A safety check of microwave ovens in the Boise area found only one that failed to meet federal safety standards for radiation emission.

The radiation control team of the Department of Environmental and Community Services checked about 50 ovens in the area after a consumer magazine reported that microwave ovens endanger the health of users.

Michael Christie, chief of the radiation control program, said leakage from the hazardous oven was caused by a faulty safety switch which failed to turn the unit off automatically when the door was first opened.

Three other ovens inspected by the team showed some leakage but not in excess of the federal standards.

Christie recommended preventing paper toweling from extending outside the oven door if cooking on paper toweling for safer operation of the ovens.

He also said oven owners should not tamper with the safety devices that automatically turn off the oven when the door is opened.

He said the ovens, especially the door seals, should be kept clean with water and mild detergents.

The safety checks also are being made in other parts of the state by members of the department.

Grocery robbed in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — An undetermined amount of cash was taken from a State Street Circle K grocery store Tuesday night during an armed robbery.

Boise police officer Bill Braddock said the man entered the store, selected sandwiches from the sandwich machine, took them to the counter and asked for cigarettes.

He then told the clerk, Pat Herbst, that it was a holdup and took an unknown amount of cash from the till. He put the goods and money in a bag and fled on foot.

Apollo crew to Boise

BOISE (UPI) — The three-man crew for Apollo 17 plans to stop in Boise March 30 as the final stop in a nationwide tour of 27 states.

According to Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, the crew plans to make appearances at the three Boise public high schools, a noon luncheon of the Boise Chamber of Commerce, a press conference and a tour of the city.

The astronauts also will present an Idaho state flag and a U.S. flag that were aboard the Apollo craft on its trip to the moon to the city of Boise.

Crew members scheduled to be in Boise are Apollo 17 flight commander Eugene A. Cernan, Capt., USN, command module pilot Ronald E. Evans, Capt., USN, and lunar module pilot Harrison H. Schmitt, PhD.

Blaine County program, school study allayed

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Tensions that had arisen over the Blaine County School Program and Facility Study were allayed Monday night.

During a study committee meeting attended by about 60 persons, Dean B. J. Chandler of the school of education of Northwestern University clarified the university's involvement in the study.

He refuted concerns of possible financial ties between the staff of the Northwestern-directed study, the Welch Scientific Company or with Richard Welch, Ketchum.

Following Dean Chandler's presentation, Welch submitted his resignation as chairman of the school building committee and as member of the study's steering committee — a move which he said he hoped "would lead to a pulling together of the entire community."

Both resignations were accepted with regret by school district board chairman William Mallory.

Welch expressed concern that his involvement in the study had produced controversy. However, he said his involvement had stemmed from belief that the study "would have great statewide ramifications as well as nationwide visibility."

"I am convinced we are really on our way now," Welch said. He said he felt the educational responsibility had been spread throughout the entire community.

Welch concluded, "We are ready to go — let's all pull together and move it (the study) now," a statement which was met by applause.

Dr. Paul Heuston, Ketchum, a study committee member who made a presentation earlier before the school board posing questions and concerns on a wide variety of school issues, said he had met Monday afternoon with Dean Chandler and Dean Everett Samuelson of the College of Education of the University of Idaho, in what Dr. Heuston termed a "good session."

Heuston said most of the concerns in his school board presentation "were unrelated directly to this study."

Dr. Heuston repeated an earlier pledge that "we will lend every cooperation until we reach the goal of a new high school. We will cooperate with Northwestern until the study is completed."

He said he was "not concerned with the philosophy of education" as long as assurances were given that it "would be determined locally."

Chandler reviewed a reading program — for elementary students at the Delano School, Chicago.

Chandler said about six years ago Welch donated about $200,000 to the school of education of Northwestern University to underwrite a reading research program for elementary students at the Chicago School. This program, Chandler said, has already resulted in an increased reading ability and interest and that a teaching program developed at the school may be useful in similar schools throughout the country.

However, he said "Richard Welch did not derive one thin dime of income from the project or its results." He also said, "I can assure you also that no one at Northwestern University has benefited financially from the reading research program."

Dean Chandler said the project would not have been done "without the generosity and civic-mindedness of Dick Welch who has manifested a deep interest in education and a strong commitment to improvement of education ever since I have known him." As chairman of the building committee Welch suggested to Mallory that Northwestern be contacted in regard to the study, Chandler said. He said that he and Dr. L. J. Stiles came to Blaine County last summer and discussed the proposed study with the board of trustees, the school administrators and State Board of Education officials.

"Dr. Stiles and I became convinced that the study had unusual potential," Dr. Chandler said. He said the conclusion was based on the following factors: the board of trustees unanimously requested the study; state officials were enthusiastic about the proposed study; Dr. Wayne Phillips, state needs assessment program, was thought to be an asset; a strong school of education at the University of Idaho exists under the leadership of Dean Everett Samuelson and "we thought they would be interested in collaborating on the study"; and "you have unique resources in a once in a lifetime opportunity to plan an educational program for now and the future."

Dean Chandler said when no funds were available, Welch agreed to guarantee $25,000 for the first year of the study. He said that any community donations towards this cost would be welcomed.

The remaining $25,000 is to be obtained by a practice commonplace in education, dean Chandler said.

Arrangements with the architects will include allocation of one-half of one per cent of the architect's fee for the preparation of educational specifications for the building. Neither Dr. Stiles, Walter Hoesel (study on-site coordinator) nor I have any kind of financial ties with the Welch Scientific Company nor with Mr. Welch personally or with any business interests of his," dean Chandler said.

He said "We stand to profit in no way from our involvement in this study. Neither does Mr. Welch," he said.

Dean Chandler said, "I suggest that his generosity and commitment to good education be praised rather than criticized."

The dean also said Dr. Heuston "has quite appropriately raised a number of questions that are important. He is to be commended for his concern and for the courage to raise issues. After all, that process is at the heart of the study," he said.

TF council gives OK to fire fighters plan

TWIN FALLS — City Council members Monday night approved an agreement with International Fire Fighters Local 1558 for the current year.

The agreement covers working benefits including a five-per-cent salary increase, the same amount given other city employees this year.

Previously the agreement had been approved by negotiation committees of the City Council and the Fire Fighters Local.

In other action the Council set April 16 as the date for a public hearing on a zoning request. The owner of property at 119 South Washington St. has requested permission to locate a beauty shop in the home.

The Council authorized City Manager Jean Milm to obtain estimates on two equipment items and make purchase of the equipment. Both items all below the $2,500 level required for bids. One is for the engineering department and the other is a mower for the parks department.

Councilman Paul Ostyn also asked for clarification of city regulations on removal of abandoned cars on city streets.

HANSEN — Ralph Simmons was re-elected chairman of Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Assn., Monday night.

Earl Tridle was elected vice chairman, and Joe B. Hill, secretary. The election was by acclamation when stockholders voted in a single ballot to retain all officers for the current year.

Members approved a hookup for Jack Clark for residential property. Members approved extending sewer lines to the Sligar property north of U.S. Highway 30 on the former Von Nebeker farm. The site is being developed as a mobile home park.

Fad diet warning given

SHOSHONE — Warnings against food fad diets is given by Mrs. Jean Annett, home economist for Lincoln, Blaine and Carnas counties.

She said eating an excess of one food is not a good idea nutritionally, because there is an interplay of nutrients in the body.

For example, calcium must have the help of vitamin D before it can be absorbed from the gastro-intestinal tract into the bloodstream. That's the reason for vitamin D milk.

Some research sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture indicated that calcium metabolism is also affected by the amount of protein a person consumes.

The studies, using young men aged 18 to 20, indicated that high intakes of protein increase the requirement for calcium. Too much protein increases the requirement for calcium to the point that the body is in a negative calcium balance. The food eaten is not supplying enough to meet bodily needs.

These studies indicate that with the continued increase in protein consumption in the United States, more research is needed to examine the relationship between protein intake and calcium retention.

Woman competes with men

NORTHBRIDGE (UPI) — On March 3, 1942, the Ogden, Utah, Standard Examiner carried a sports item which didn't attract much attention at the time.

"Weber Wallbped Wyoming and trimmed Colorado. Virginia Nelson travelled with the squad and represented the team as its diver. This is the first time in the history of competitive athletics that a woman has competed with men and won. Miss Nelson's points earned in the diving were the decisive points needed to win the meet against Colorado."

Now, as women are just beginning to enter into competition with men in collegiate athletics, Mrs. Virginia Nelson Rich, formerly of Weber College (now Weber State), remembers how it used to be.

"Men were so much more gracious in those days," says Mrs. Rich, now the Dean of Girls at Taft High School in Woodland Hills, Calif. "They just accepted men competing against women better then."

Miss Nelson went on to win AAU diving championships in open competition against men.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always had a great deal of faith in chiropractic treatment, so naturally when my 15-year-old daughter suffered a bad whiplash in an auto accident I took her to a local chiropractic clinic where I paid in advance for a series of treatments. (She still has six to go.) She was an hour late getting home from her last treatment and I was worried sick. When she got home I asked her some questions and she started to cry. Then she told me everything (I hope).

She said the chiropractor insisted on showing her his new apartment near the clinic. She said all the walls were covered with pictures of nudes from Playboy magazine. She told me he showed her his bedroom in which he had a huge waterbed, and he asked her to bounce on it a few times just to get the feel of it. She said he kept touching her and she could tell he was getting aroused, so she ran out, saying she had to get home.

Report 'clinker'

If my husband were alive he'd know what to do about this nut. I can't let her go back there. What should I do? I trust you.

DEAR HEARTSICK: This "nut" is accountable to the state Chiropractic Association. Report him. And for good measure, report him to the American Chiropractic Association, 2200 Grand Av., Des Moines, Ia. 50312. There are a few folks in every profession and the ethical ones will appreciate your reporting the clinker.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was a volunteer for the American Cancer Society Crusade. While working on the campaign I learned more about the "danger signals" and made an appointment for my husband to see a doctor. Immediately following the examination he was operated on for cancer. Thank God they caught it in the early stages. And thank God I volunteered. Believe me, when they called me again this year I said yes! GOT MORE THAN I GAVE.

DEAR ABBY: If you had friends who used your expensive cocktail table for a footstool, what would you say or do?

DEAR BUGGED: First, I would say, "Please don't." If that failed, I'd "bug" 'em.

DEAR ABBY: I am a graduate student. I'm bald-headed but I've been wearing a hairpiece for nearly a year. It is so natural-looking that when people who knew me before see me for the first time with the hairpiece on, they think I have new eyeglasses or something—they don't realize it's my hair.

The problem is how (and when) to let a girl know that I wear a hairpiece.

I don't think it's necessary to tell every girl I date about it, but when I start going seriously with a girl, she has to be told. But now? And when?

DEAR ANONYMOUS: At the point of getting serious, why not suggest that you both disassemble yourselves for full inspection so that there'll be no trauma on the wedding night?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 49708, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

North responds two spades and at this point South should jump to four diamonds to convey the message that South has diamonds and little or nothing else.

North could go right to seven or try the five no-trump grand slam force. On this bidding sequence the grand slam force should ask if South has solid diamonds since his previous bids have clearly guaranteed at least two of the three top honors. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

National Guard to recruit women

TWIN FALLS — Women may soon be part of the Southern Idaho National Guard.

Area recruiter 2 Lt. Jerry Benton, Twin Falls, says the Guard will recruit women ages 18 through 35 for three-year terms. Those interested, he said, may contact him at the Twin Falls National Guard Armory or through other guard officials in the southern Idaho area.

The three-year enlistment terms, Lt. Benton said, would consist of a four-month period of basic training at reception stations throughout the country, and regular guard service including monthly weekend drills and a two-week summer camp at Gowen Field, Boise, for the enlistment.

High school graduates are preferred, Benton said, although an enlistee might earn a general education certificate while in basic training. Recruits may enroll on the "buddy" system, with two women opting for basic training together, he said.

Recruiters are interested in women with prior service with the armed forces, also, Benton said. A woman with prior service may sign up for a one year enlistment; those with prior service may be married and have dependents, he said.

Enlistment involves an armed forces selection test and physical examination by local doctors. Job training in personnel, administration, bookkeeping, accounting and other clerical training is available during basic training, Benton said.

Base pay at beginning E-1 rank is approximately $320 in addition to room and board and other benefits.

In case of armed conflict, Benton said, women in national units would "probably not be called up," but "could be transferred to some army post for non-combatant positions."

Recruitment of women into the Army National Guard was initiated last year in Idaho.

Rainbow Girls present program

TWIN FALLS — Rainbow Girls from Filer presented a program preceding the regular meeting of Magic Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Star, Monday evening.

The program exemplified the regular opening and closing ceremonies of the Rainbow Girls.

Introduced at the Magic Chapter meeting were Ruby Dean, chairman of ESTAR District No. 7; Marian Langdon, chairman of Home Interest; and Benevolent Committee, District No. 7; and Mrs. A. Robinson, worthy matron of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29.

Substituting for the evening were Mrs. James Page, treasurer, and Mrs. Harley Williams, Martha.

Invitations included one to the annual visitation of the grand guardian at Job's Daughter Bethel No. 43 at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and to Victory Chapter No. 21 on Wednesday.

The building board requested that the chapter relinquish the red room May 21 for the York Rite Convention in Twin Falls that week. Mrs. Milton Ballard read an amendment to the bylaws stating that when the red room is needed for such events, the regular meeting will not be conducted.

Mrs. Harold Brown, worthy matron, announced that officers will be elected at the next meeting. She appointed Glenn Davis and Bill Moran as tellers.

Officially honored at the meeting were 31 officers and members of Chapter No. 29, who were presented in the west and given gifts from the chapter.

Mrs. Langdon reported on the homecoming of the worthy grand matron in St. Anthony.

Rupert project plans set

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Tentative plans for a new sewage treatment plant were presented to the Rupert City Council Tuesday night.

Jim Voeller, consulting engineer for the City of Rupert, said the grant application had been made for the $1.9 million project, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency was holding the grant subject to agreements with industry.

According to the plan, the U.S. would pay 75 per cent of costs, the state would pay 15 per cent and local funding would take care of the remaining 10 per cent.

Industries, particularly those large plants which rely heavily on the city sewer system such as Magic Valley Foods and Kraft, would be expected to pay a percentage of the government's share of the cost.

The city's proposed budget this year had set aside $690,000 in anticipation of the construction of the plant.

The Council appointed a new parks and recreation director Dan Schab, to replace Mike Rinard who resigned last month.

Schab, a 1969 graduate of Minico High School, will begin work June 1 at a salary of $666 per month. Schab, 21, will graduate from the University of Utah this June.

Two bids for work to be done in the city were accepted.

Gordon Paving, which submitted the bid for, will be contracted for asphalt work at the new Big Valley Park at a cost of $11,950.

Anderson Lumber Co., Rupert, received the bid for a six-foot fence to be built behind Memorial Park. Anderson bid $2,470 for the job while Mountain States Fence Co., Salt Lake City, bid $2,917.

Improper dumping of garbage was discussed by council members who recommended that citations be issued when necessary to those who do not conform to ordinance rules for garbage pickup.

All garbage, according to city ordinance, is to be properly bundled before it is set in the alleys.

The Council authorized Mayor O. W. Johnson to set up a two week period in April for Spring cleanup. At this time the city would pick up larger items as well as accumulated yard debris.

Odell McLane, Rupert fire chief, discussed the hazards of the large stock piles of herbicides and pesticides in several plants in Rupert. These "bombs," said McLane could, in the event of a fire, contaminate the area on such a large scale as to require evacuation of the whole city.

McLane said he is currently working with the state health department to set up safe and proper guidelines for the handling of these chemicals.

The Council presented to the city engineers for study proposals from Penatyn, Salt Lake City, and Rod Cleaning Machines, Inc., Los Angeles, for the sealing of the sewer lines. The city will spend its revenue sharing money on the sewer sealing project.

The Rupert Chamber of Commerce asked the Council for a restricted parking area in front of its office. According to a Chamber representative, local residents have been using the available spaces for long term parking to the detriment of tourists who would like to park near the office.

The request was turned over to the chief of police for recommendations.

The 1973 salary scale was approved by the council, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Inspect facilities

TWIN FALLS County Commissioners William Chancey and Merle Leonard inspect new boat ramp facilities finished this week at Murtaugh Lake. Construction of the ramp, on the south side of the lake, will ease high use of the northwest ramp, according to Clark Kleinkopf, secretary of the waterways committee.

Boat ramp built

TWIN FALLS — Boat ramp construction was completed this week on the south side of Murtaugh Lake, according to Clark Kleinkopf, secretary of the Twin Falls Waterways Committee.

The public ramp was built in conjunction with the Twin Falls Grange and the Murtaugh Lake Water Ski Club to relieve pressure on the northwest ramp facilities on the lake.

The ramp is constructed in an area where parking is accessible, and a walkway for tie up purposes is also under construction next to the ramp, Kleinkopf said.

"Our expenses were cut a great deal because of donated labor," he said.

Those involved in the project included Jim Sharp, tractor and backhoe; president Chuck Hency and members of the ski club, L. T. Creed of the Twin Falls Grange, and Robert Smith. Noah Oliver is chairman of the waterways committee.

According to Twin Falls county commissioners Bill Wiseman, Bill Chancey and Merle Leonard, work on the parking area and ramp is also planned at Roseworth Reservoir in the southwest section of Twin Falls County.

ATLANTA (UPI) — A prisoner has sued the government for $200,000 damages, charging that prison officials started a hair transplant on his head but abandoned the project, leaving him with a few unsightly patches of hair.

Billy Ray Bowling, now a prisoner at the California State Prison in Chino, claimed he was promised three hair transplant operations while he was incarcerated at the federal prison in Atlanta, but the program was halted after one operation.

CAA directors okay request

TWIN FALLS — Directors of the South Central Community Action Agency Tuesday night approved a grant request submitted for a three-phase program.

Robert Russell, administrative officer for the CAA said the funding request submitted to the Seattle Regional Office of the Office of Economic Opportunity last Friday.

He said the agency has asked for a 12-month grant for senior citizens programs, a 12-month funding for family planning and a six-month funding for the CAA administration for transition and phase-out work.

The funding requests are for $23,000 for senior citizens, $9,000 for family planning and $45,000 for administration and phase out.

Russell said the OEO office in Seattle requested a funding proposal last Tuesday, asking it be in their office by Friday and members of the planning and executive committees submitted the proposal, and directors Tuesday night approved the proposal.

The boys will weigh in at 7 p.m., according to Herb Dodge, scout master.

Russell said under the Senior Citizens program work involves mostly organization and planning for projects for the senior citizens in the three county area and administration of the programs including administration of any AOA (Administration on Aging) funds which may become available through the state from federal grants.

He said the programs hopefully will be carried on after January 1974 through revenue sharing.

Family planning funds would help continue the present family planning programs in an eight county area and through the cooperation of the Department of Health which presently directs family planning with assistance from CAA.

Russell said the $45,000 for CAA phase out work would cover salaries, legal fees and other transition work as well as assist the Council of Governments in reestablishing programs they feel should be continued.

AF dam repair stalled

BOISE — A delegation from Southeast Idaho was told Tuesday that the Idaho Highway Board "cannot possibly" raise funds until after July 1 to repair the deteriorating American Falls Dam roadway.

This would mean that the construction cannot be completed to handle the heavy crop movement across the structure this year.

Persons from the American Falls area told the highway board during a meeting it blamed Idaho Power Co. for the failure of the recent legislation to provide $600,000 in non-recurring revenue-sharing funds to widen the roadway as requested by the governor.

"There is no need to mince words," said Joe Allen, American Falls, and former state senator. "It was extremely poor timing for the power company to say it could build a new dam across the Snake River in two years."

Robert Hogg, consultant for Idaho Power, told the board earlier that the firm could build a new dam just below the existing structure in from 15 to 18 months after starting construction.

Hogg agreed that it was not predictable at this time when the start of construction could begin.

Because of deterioration of the dam one-way traffic is required over the roadway.

The first publication devoted exclusively to comics appeared in 1911, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Parent-teacher conferences for the three schools in District 413 were set for March 29-30.

Schools will be dismissed at 12:40 p.m. March 29. Parents will visit the schools from 1-4:30 p.m. and from 6-9:30 p.m. March 29, and from 1-4:30 p.m. March 30. Report cards are to be sent out to parents before the conferences are to be held.

Edwin Marshall, high school principal, discussed rapid reading courses in the high school. A further discussion and demonstration on this will be presented to the board at 7:30 p.m. at the April 6 meeting.

Marshall also said that Ray Berryhill has offered to teach a mini-course in Civil War study for juniors and seniors interested in pertinent science.

Trestle fire cuts UP line

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

FILER — Fire damaged a railroad trestle over the Highline Canal four miles south of Filer Tuesday, halting rail traffic over the line.

According to Filer fire department reports, volunteer firemen responded to the blaze about 4 p.m. and had the fire out within an hour. A truck from the Twin Falls volunteer fire department at the labor camp was also on the scene.

Union Pacific Railroad agent for Twin Falls Buck Boss said the Union Pacific had been running trains over the trestle every other day to pick up wheat and other produce from the area. He said he did not know if a rerouting were possible or if it would be undertaken. He said all decisions were up to the railroad's Pontello headquarters.

The fire was started when flames from a weed burning operation touched the trestle.

Twin Falls Canal Co. ditch rider John Hamner said today he had been burning a pile of tumbleweeds in the canal about twenty feet to the side of the trestle when the wind blew the flames to the railroad bridge and ignited it.

Hamner said the flames touched bridge timbers and quickly spread all across the bridge. "The blaze touched the bridge and away it went," he said. He said the wind was "not too bad" when he set fire to the pile of tumbleweeds.

Estimates of damage to the trestle varied this morning. According to the Filer fire department the bridge was nearly destroyed although some beams were still standing.

Boss said it would take a bridge inspector to determine the exact amount of damage. He said no inspector had yet visited the site.

Canal company manager Al Peters said "I don't think they would want to run trains over it, the timbers are charred badly but still standing." Peters said crews used to preserve the wooden beams encouraged the fire and made it difficult to put out.

Jerome man rejects post

JEROME — William Hill, Jerome, said Tuesday he would not be a candidate in the April 24 school trustee election.

Warren Keys, clerk for the school board, said earlier that a nominating petition for Hill had been taken out by some friends of Hill for Zone 4.

Another name has been added to the list of candidates. Alvin Chonack has taken out a petition for Zone 1. Keys said he has received nominating petitions from Darrell Wolf, Zone 2, Lyle Van Orman, Zone 3, Don Allen, Zone 4, Jack Thompson, Zone 5 and Richard Johnson, Zone 1.

Keys said a nominating petition was taken out by Leroy Weigle Zone 2 who had stated previously he was not certain of seeking reelection. Keys said he hasn't received a petition taken out by Mrs. Forrest (Cheryl) Hymans, Zone 4.

Petitions have not been by trustee William Kersey, Zone 1, who has stated he would be seeking election or by Board Chairman Gordon Hollifield, Zone 5 who also said he would be seeking election. Keys did note that a woman had taken out a petition for Zone 5 but did not state who it was for.

Farm special

TWIN FALLS — Look for the 1973 Farm Forecast and Review, coming Thursday, March 29, in the Times-News.

The special edition includes an overall look at the progress in agriculture in Magic Valley during the past year and the prospects that lie ahead for area farmers.

In this "year of the farmer" in which prices paid farmers have finally begun to catch up with rising farm costs, the Farm Review should provide interesting reading for both farmers and the general public.

Indiana firm gives low bid

According to 1971 statement by state highway engineer Ellis Mathes, the overloading allowed on Perrine "ate into the safety factor." He said the overloading may have been a contributing factor to the damage discovered in 1969.

State highway maintenance engineer Ray Jump said a bridge is usually posted at or below its maximum load limit when it is constructed. To do otherwise, he said, would compromise the safety of persons crossing the bridge.

When asked in 1971 why the Perrine structure had not been posted according to its 25-ton limit, Jump was not able to answer. "I was afraid you might ask that," he said.

Filer aides set election date

FILER — Filer school trustees of District 4 have set April 9 for the annual trustee election.

One trustee for a three-year term in zone 2 will be elected. Incumbent Everett Andrews said Monday he is willing to run for reelection. Incumbent trustees not affected are Lawrence Knigge, zone 1; Alvin Ochsner, zone 3; John Lutz, zone 4, and David Chadwick, zone 5.

Monday the board offered a contract to Gerald Woodland, former Wendell resident, for the position of vocational agriculture instructor. Woodland will be graduating in May from the University of Idaho, and will replace Russell Hall who is retiring at the end of the school year.

Woodland attended Phoenix College, Dixie Junior College, St. George, Utah; College of Southern Idaho, and the University of Idaho, where he majored in dairy science and received a B.S. degree in agricultural education.

Marshall also said that Ray Berryhill has offered to teach a mini-course in Civil War study for juniors and seniors interested in pertinent science.

Lyle Sall from the Idaho First National Bank, discussed computerized payroll services to the trustees and the group voted to use the services.

The trustees announced plans for a memorial for Frances Huston, former high school librarian, who died last week.

A special meeting will be held April 2 to hire a coach for the high school.

Lee Bartlett discussed activities and ideas for an elementary physical education program for grades one through six, including skills and game activities to help develop hand and eye coordination and provide daily exercise for the students.

Idaho Power Co. officials cut power to the building to help extinguish the fire.

The alarm was turned in shortly after 8 a.m.

Senate head raps choice

LEADORE, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho Senate President Pro Tem James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, today criticized Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' appointment of Robert Lenaghan to the state Public Utilities Commission. Ellsworth said the governor "purposely and illegally" waited until the legislature was out of town before making the appointment.

Ellsworth, who serves as chairman of the state affairs subcommittee on gubernatorial appointments, charged Andrus "waited until adjournment to make the appointment, because he knew we'd have some pretty hard questions to ask Mr. Lenaghan, in view of his record as acting director of the Department of Administrative Services."

Andrus made the announcement of Lenaghan's appointment Saturday. The Idaho Legislature adjourned last week. Ellsworth said, "The law specifically states that the appointment was to be made on the second Monday in January."

Ellsworth had sent the governor a letter prior to the end of the legislature, asking him to make the appointment while the Senate could still act on it. The Public Utilities Commission post is one of many in state government which requires confirmation by the Senate.

Bullet pierces flak jacket

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — Marilyn Hart, 18, Terence Matheson, 19, and Richard Donahue were playing with a rifle and a flak jacket, sheriff's deputies reported Monday.

Donahue put on the jacket, and Matheson fired the rifle at him from about two feet away, deputies said. The flak jacket deflected the slug.

"Let me try it," said Miss Hart.

Matheson fired at her back, from about the same distance as he had fired at Donahue. The bullet pierced the jacket and lodged in her abdomen, deputies said. She was in satisfactory condition today at Santa Monica Hospital.

The jackets were developed to protect helicopter pilots in Vietnam from shrapnel. The jacket bore a label saying "will not defend against any small arms fire," officers said, but no charges will be brought against any of the participants.

"There's no law against being stupid," a deputy said.

Mountain turns on man

By BEN B. FRANKLIN
Topeka, Kan.

I was 18 when the mountain turned on me. Until then I had been its master. For climbing was my great love and avocation.

Otherwise, life was fairly bland. But I really started to live when summer enabled me to hunt greater challenges on the slopes. They had, in fact, become my mountains.

But on April 14, 1963, I fell. With two fellow freshmen from the University of Colorado I was scaling a perpendicular facing when my rope frayed on a jagged ridge. It parted, and I pitched backward, plummeting the equivalent of seven stories to the canyon floor.

My first sensation was floating within black wool. Through the pain all I could think of was: What happened to my rope? The voices of my companions, who had frantically rappelled down, filtered dimly through to me.

By the time the rescue squad had arrived I'd become delirious. I was carried down the canyon in an ambulance which screamed the 30 miles into Denver.

Surgeons pieced together my shattered pelvis and labored for hours on my back which was broken in four places. Many days in intensive care followed. Then, as my pain muted and I became more rational, the agony of my spirit began.

The sheet over my body wouldn't move. I could wriggle my fingers and twist my wrists, but with mounting terror I learned that my body was dead from the waist down.

Anger charged me. Those legs were mine; they would move. I twisted every emotional fiber in me to will my leg to move. Nothing.

Days dragged by. I struggled for hope — and then my will melted into despair. "Why?" I cried. "Why had I gone climbing that day? Why had the rope broken? Why hadn't God done something to help me?"

A spark glimmered within me when the doctors said they'd try a special operation. Surely surgery would have the answer. But it didn't. My spinal cord had been too damaged. Now a wheelchair sat next to me, awaiting my surrender.

Days went on, and my legs began to wither. The doctors introduced me to a new life style — how to roll over and sit up, and they fitted a steel back brace to me since my chest muscles wouldn't support me.

And I began to pray — pray desperately to the God I was getting to know. Surely He would help me. Hadn't Jesus said "Ask and ye shall receive"? I asked but did not receive.

When the sixth month was removed from my bed table calendar, my last drop of hope went with it. Even my hate and bitterness drained out of me. My spirit was as dead as my lower body. It was in this crisis of utter hopelessness that I surrendered myself to God.

At night, alone in my room, I spoke to Him. "You know that I want to walk again. But I can't do it. I don't have anything left, dear God. I've tried as hard as I know and have only discovered that my will means nothing. If not my will, then, Thine be done."

I drifted into a deep, relaxing sleep. My feeling of helplessness was gone. In that agonizing prayer when I turned all control over to God, I had accepted my accident. In so doing I had relinquished my will to His. And I didn't have to fight anymore.

The next evening I moved a toe.

I stared in terrible fascination at that point of the sheet, afraid to try again. Then, very cautiously, I did try.

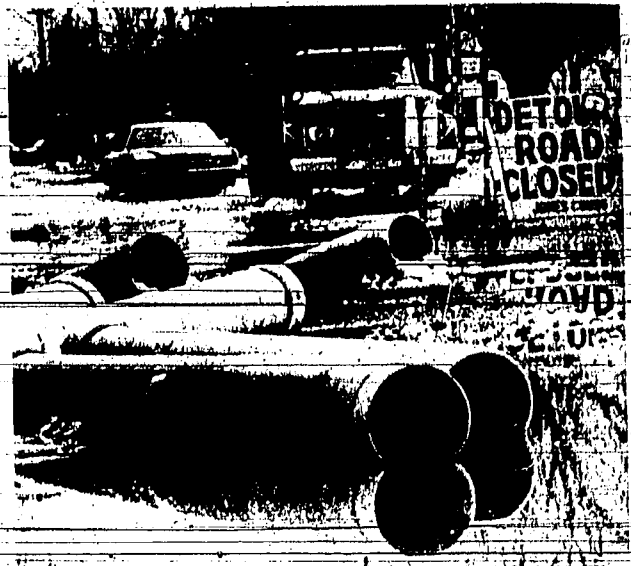

Again the sheet moved. I exploded into ecstatic joy, laughing and shouting. I poured out a grateful prayer to God, with thanksgiving streaming down my face.

Eight years have passed since that night, but my happiness continues. I am still partially paralyzed. But after only a year in the wheelchair, I progressed to crutches with leg braces.

And I am grateful for each step I take on my crutches. For each sunrise I get to see. I am even thankful to the mountain. For it was through my accident that I discovered deeper joys than climbing.

Through my relationship with God I have learned compassion, the abundance of beauty and the tremendously rich power available to me when I place my hand in His with complete trust.

I'm happy I was only 18 when it happened. Copyright 1973 by Guideposts Associates Inc., Carmel, N.Y. 10512.

Automakers must prove ad claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Tuesday ordered three U.S. and three foreign automakers to prove advertising claims involving such things as trunk space, soundproof interiors and handling.

The orders were directed at General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Volkswagen of America, Renault and Nissan in the third such round of advertising substantiation directives undertaken by the agency. Ford was ordered to prove six claims, Chevrolet four, GM three and the others one each.

Ford, for instance, was asked to show how roping a Mustang from the back of a Ford pickup truck, as was done in a network television commercial, is "relevant and material to the smoothness of ride experienced by a passenger inside the truck." The ad claimed the event "showed" how smooth riding the truck was.

The orders are part of a continuing FTC program to make the producers of everything from toothbrushes to cough medicines back up their advertising claims. If the data submitted fails to substantiate the advertising, the FTC may move against the companies to make them change their ads.

Among the claims challenged in Tuesday's actions: —Ford Mustang has been the "largest selling car in its class since 1965."

—Ford LTD Brougham "is as quiet or more quiet than a Jaguar X-J6 sedan" to which it was compared in a TV commercial.

—Ford Panther "monocoque construction" resulted in "an incredibly strong and rigid structure."

—Mercury Capri outsells "every other European car in America except one."

—Dodge Charger is "one of the quietest medium-sized cars on the road."

—Dodge Polara "has one of the biggest trunks in America."

—Chevrolet Nova handles better and has a better suspension system than the 1972 Nova.

—Datsun "is unique among economy cars because it is the only economy car to offer the combination of front disc brakes, overhead cam engine and independent rear suspension."

—Renault has a front wheel drive which allows the car to handle better in ice and snow.

—Audi has an independent front suspension like the Aston Martin, an interior like the Mercedes-Benz 280 SE and an ignition system like the Porsche 911.

Wins lottery

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Odorico Guimaraes Lopes, 67, read all the newspapers, looked at the soccer predictions of the sports experts and then bet against the favorites.

On Monday he became the lone winner of Brazil's sports lottery prize of $2,206,076.37, a probable world record.

Newsmen and photographers besieged Lopes Tuesday in the small coastal town of Caravelas in Bahia state, where he owns 100 head of cattle. He is also a notary public in the small town of Nantique in Minas Gerais state, where he owns a small public registrar's office.

Gooding will fine lax dog owners

GOODING — According to an amendment to the City Dog Ordinance adopted at Monday night's Gooding City Council meeting, any owner of a dog running at large is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A complaint could be filed against the owner in Magistrate's Court.

In addition to the complaint, the owner can also be charged the $5 to $10 impoundment fee and the $5 fee if the dog is without a license.

The original ordinance said that the dogs had to be picked up three times before the misdemeanor could be charged.

The city council also discussed the possibility of installing a lift station near Fifth Avenue and Arizona

Nude men storm store

MUNICH (UPI) — A boutique owner filed advertisements in Munich newspapers saying he would outfit his first five customers from head to foot, provided they showed up nude.

Thirty-eight nude men stormed the newly opened boutique Monday.

The boutique owner, who said he did not expect even one man to take advantage of the offer, kept his promise and presented the other 33 nudes with pants and socks.

The first prospective customers began arriving before dawn and camped in front of the boutique in sleeping bags in subzero temperatures.

Latecomers jumped out of their cars and ran into the boutique shortly after opening time. They got an unwelcome bonus — police summonses for blocking the street with their cars.

The council approved a gas contractor's license to Lamar Box, Jerome.

HEW will cut 6,252 jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, one of the federal agencies President Nixon called "too big, too bloated," has drafted a timetable for eliminating 6,252 jobs by July 1, 1974; the administration disclosed Tuesday.

The timetable, distributed to directors of 17 programs in HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration, came under immediate fire on Capitol Hill after it was confirmed by HEW spokesmen.

"This action indicates the administration is proceeding to undo laws which the Congress has fashioned without benefit of congressional approval, and I strongly object to this tactic," said Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., chairman of a House health subcommittee.

"I cannot believe that the full consequences of some of these proposals have been brought to the personal attention of the President," Rogers said.

The job cuts will affect employees at HEW's health services headquarters in suburban Rockville, Md.; Atlanta, Cincinnati, Lexington, Ky., Providence, R.I.; Tucson, Ariz.; Fairbanks, Alaska, and at other scattered sites. In eight, Public Health Service (PHS) hospitals serving merchant seamen and their dependents; 4,032 jobs would be abolished by September after patient admissions are halted under the administration plan to transfer the facilities to local management. The hospitals are in Boston, Baltimore, Norfolk, Galveston, San Francisco, Seattle, New Orleans and Staten Island, N.Y.

HEW's health services agency currently has an authorized 27,088 full-time jobs and a proposed budget for the year beginning July 1 of $2.7 billion. The plan calls for a reduction to 16,845 employees. But this reduction includes 3,991 positions that will be moved to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington when it is transferred to the District of Columbia government June 30.

Legislation to block the administration's plans to eliminate or curtail some health services has been introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate health subcommittee.

UPI names Wooden coach of the year

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Wooden says he is getting better as a coach each year, and he certainly has the awards to prove it.

Wooden, who guided UCLA to its second straight undefeated regular season, Tuesday was named the United Press International's Coach of the Year for the second year in a row and the fourth time in the last five seasons. The award is his sixth overall since 1964.

In a balloting conducted of 193 sports writers and sportscasters across the nation the 61-year-old "Wizard of Westwood" received 77 votes and easily outdistanced runner-up Norm Sloan of North Carolina State, who got 35 votes. Bobby Knight of Indiana finished third with eight votes.

Wooden is celebrating his 20th anniversary as coach at UCLA and over the years his Bruin teams have compiled the incredible record of 564 victories against only 140 losses. This season's team has won 28 games, entering the NCAA semi-finals next Saturday in St. Louis and the Bruin dynasty is currently riding a record 73-game winning streak.

"I think each succeeding year I'm a better coach," says Wooden. "I may not know anything more from a technical standpoint but each year I think I know more about individuals and human nature, and perhaps, in creating harmony among diverse groups. This is so necessary in your team playing together as a unit."

This has been the outstanding quality about Wooden as a coach over the years—the ability to blend superb individual talents into a well-trained unit. That, and a facility for organization that rivals military strategists.

Wooden spends two hours each morning precisely outlining the UCLA practice session for that afternoon. There are no wasted moments at a Bruin practice. The team drills, for several minutes on one facet of the game then switches to another. They become so well-schooled in fundamentals that the actual games become second-nature to them. The results, of course, are self-explanatory.

Sloan, 46, led North Carolina State to its first ever undefeated season and second place national ranking. Sloan's task was harder than most since the Wolfpack was on NCAA probation before the season began and was ineligible for postseason tournament competition.

Keino says world mile record near

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Kip Keino of Kenya, one of the greatest middle distance runners of all time, said Tuesday he believed that it was possible the world indoor mile record will be broken in Saturday night's professional track debut at the Sports Arena here.

He said that the pacer light, an innovation of the International Track Association, would be a big help in accomplishing a record.

"The pacer light will be set for an even 59 seconds per quarter mile," Keino told the Southern California track writers. "If we run four 59-second quarters, it will be 3:56.0. The indoor record is 3:58.4."

"It will depend on the conditions of the runners. I think I'm ready."

The pacer light is actually a series of lights placed around the track that flash on at pre-timed settings. The light is pre-track's counterpart to the mechanical rabbit used in greyhound dog racing.

representing Kip Keino. I can't serve two masters."

He denied that he has received a $25,000 bonus for signing.

"I only get money for the races I run, the prize money," he said. "Yes, I do get travel expenses and a per diem. I signed a two-year contract."

However, IATA president Mike O'Hara later said that he had hired Keino, Ryan, and Bob Sangren to do some publicity for upcoming meets.

Keino, who said he has visited 107 countries and flown some 650,000 miles; had to give up a great deal and security to gamble on a pro-track career.

Masters' format not racial

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lee Elder's charges that qualifications for invitations to the Masters Golf Tournament are racially-motivated-do not hold water.

Lee Elder is an outspoken black golfer who insists that no black has played in the Masters because tournament officials don't want a black to play. He drew support this past week from a group of 19 congressmen who urged that Elder be invited.

It is a simple fact that as of now no black golfer will be playing at the Augusta National April 5-8 because no black golfer played well enough elsewhere to earn a Masters bid.

We often disagree with Masters chairman Cliff Roberts. He can be autocratic when the mood hits him. But we agree with Cliff Roberts when he candidly states that to invite a black golfer to the Masters for no other reason than the fact that he is black "would be practicing discrimination in reverse."

There are 13 different ways that a U.S. golfer can earn a berth in the Masters. Two of these, of course, will remain closed to blacks until a black gets in through one of the other 11. Those two are being a former Masters champion or finishing in the top 24 of the previous Masters.

Lee Elder can still get into this year's Masters by winning this week's Greater New Orleans Open or next week's Greater Greensboro Open.

If he doesn't make it in 1973, he can get into the 1974 Masters by finishing in the top 16 in the U.S. Open or the top 8 in the PGA Championship or win any regular PGA tournament (and there will be more than 40 of them) that lie between the Masters.

The Masters has always had a much smaller field than a regular PGA tournament, a tradition that was started before blacks played on the tour. At the moment there are 92 entrants for this year's Masters, including Ben Hogan who isn't expected to show up, while the tour stops have a minimum of 144.

Cliff Roberts, a New York investment banker who has been running the Masters since the tournament began in 1934, is confronted by racial charges almost every year.

When the issue came up last year, Roberts said the Masters was "the loser by never having had a black golfer. The sooner a black plays in the Masters, the happier I will be."

But Roberts was quick to add, "No one ought to qualify except on his proven and demonstrated ability to play golf."

To invite a black to participate solely because of his color would be an insult to the golfer and to his race.

The Masters used to allow its former champions to invite one, otherwise unqualified, golfer to play in the Masters. That was the only opening for a U.S. golfer that had no specified qualification.

The Masters does invite foreign golfers without adding by any list of qualifications there are 18 in this year's tournament — but Roberts points out that this is necessary by circumstances.

"It's true that we invite anyone we choose on the foreign level," he said. "But we don't have a clear set of guidelines for picking foreign players because there isn't enough international play. We try to pick those we think have a possibility of competing against our golfers over here, but not many measure up."

About half of this year's foreign list are golfers who play on the U.S. tour, people like Gary Player of South Africa, Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin of Australia, Bob Charles of New Zealand.

"We have an unwritten rule," Roberts noted, "that any foreign player who continuously plays on the U.S. tour must play well enough to qualify as if he were a citizen of this country."

Roberts contends that Lee Elder's complaint is misdirected; that he should be working to improve the quality and quantity of black golfers.

Roberts points out that it is an economic problem, that few blacks are involved in golf, compared to sports like baseball and basketball which are far less demanding economically.

"There is no doubt," said Roberts, "that when blacks make the same effort in golf as in other athletic fields, they'll be playing in the Masters. But few are making a serious effort."

What Cliff Roberts is saying is that Lee Elder should let his golf clubs do his talking.

Elder says invitations anti-black

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Golf pro Lee Elder suggested Tuesday that if the Masters tournament wants to put an end to any questions of racial discrimination, the sponsors should invite the top 60 money winners on the pro tour.

"If they had done that which every other tournament does, they would have had a black player every year for the last 10 years," Elder, a black, said in a statement issued by his wife at their Washington home.

Elder, now in New Orleans for a tournament this week, said he appreciated a letter written by 18 congressmen urging that he be the first black to be invited to play in the Masters.

But he said in his statement he would not accept a special invitation just because of his race.

"I think any invitation should be because of my qualifications as a golfer," Elder commented through his wife.

CSI baseball opens at TVCC

Right-handers Joe Rubino and Kurt Barron will handle the pitching chores Thursday when the College of Southern Idaho baseball team opens its season with a doubleheader at Treasure Valley Community College.

The Golden Eagles will return to Twin Falls at 1 p.m. Saturday to host the Idaho State Bengals in a twin bill in Jaycee Park.

Coach Bob Banfield is looking for a good season as the team is returning almost everyone from last year's world series entrants and has enhanced its pitching corps tremendously.

"We've been working out for quite a while but with the basketball season winding up just last Saturday, I haven't been able to work them as hard as I'd like," says Banfield who doubles as basketball assistant.

His starting lineup for Thursday's games reflect the depth of the team, only frosh shortstop Robb Morgan and newcomer Rick Spriggs, in right field, representing the new crop.

"I'd say that Mike Fries and Mike Treanor are pushing some of the other starters hard," Coach Banfield said.

"They definitely will see action. A couple of our other freshmen are improving right along and we expect Darrell Groves to help the team now that the basketball season is over."

The starting lineup will be Roy Kinnan, catcher; Ralph Bollinger, first base; Jim Dunsmore, second base; Morgan, shortstop; John Wilson, third base; Bob Papworth, leftfield; Bob Liese, centerfield; and Spriggs, rightfield.

Coach Banfield said he tentatively had Ron Estes and Kevin Nelson penciled in to start Saturday's battles with Idaho State. The Bengals, suspending their team after one day in the Banana Belt tournament in Lewiston for disciplinary reasons, are expected to show up Saturday. However, at least two of the team members have been permanently suspended.

"Our big game is Tuesday, though," Coach Banfield continued. "We've got Ricks twice and we have to win both of those. Beating Ricks is the key to getting into post season play."

He said the team with the best record head-to-head or in case of a tie, the one with the best mark against common opponents, will be designated to travel to Mesa, Colo., for the sub-regional playoff.

If CSI can win those two, the Eagles will host the regional, last step before the NJCAA world series.

Yankees make move in player tangle

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Yankees have made the first move to break up the Fritz Peterson-Mike Kekich tangle, and that move has been toward the Twins.

Calvin Griffith, the Minnesota owner who was here Tuesday for an American League meeting, says Leo MacPhail talked with him about a possible Peterson-for-Jim Kaat deal, but he's not going for that kind of swap.

Griffith says Peterson's past has nothing to do with it. Money has. Both Peterson and Kaat have not signed their 1973 contracts yet.

"I'm not here to judge Peterson for what he did," says the Twins' owner. "These things happen in life. All I know is he wants too much money. That's one of the stumbling blocks. I consider Peterson a good pitcher, but I also consider Kaat one of the best left-handers in the league right now."

Kaat was 10-2 with a 2.07 ERA last season, and Peterson was 17-15 and 3.24. Griffith says he and MacPhail most likely will talk some more.

Kaat and Peterson are only two of several players who are going ahead and playing anyway even though they haven't signed their 1973 contracts yet. Could they be playing out their options? Marvin Miller says it could be. He says he has had a number of inquiries from players about what he thinks would happen if they went through an entire year without signing a new contract. "I've told them all the same thing, that there is a chance all the other clubs might band together and not offer them a contract at the end of the year," says Miller. "In that case, they would have to go to court."

Baseball has another shocker coming up shortly. Bo Belinsky has told ALI, well, nearly all anyway, in a book called "Bo." Belinsky did the book together with Maury Allen of the New York Post and it's a blockbuster that goes into infinite detail about Belinsky's escapades on the ball field, at the bar and in the boudoir. The book comes out in June and when it does Bowie Kuhn, Johnny Bench and Miss Colombia will be among those who won't be too happy.

Ritch Allen has a good memory. He doesn't forget in a hurry. When the Phillies originally sent him back to the minors, he said they didn't give him $800 they had promised him. Each year thereafter, anytime he signed a new contract with them, he insisted an additional $800 be tacked on. For all anybody knows, he still does. The White Sox don't discuss his $675,000 salary with anyone. They don't even discuss the fact a good part of it is deferred.

Earl Williams, now with Baltimore, is free to take this any way he likes, but the Atlanta pitchers say they've never had it so good as they have now with Johnny Nantz doing their catching.

Bill Robinson, the Phillies' outfielder, tells how he received repeated standing ovations last year for really doing nothing. All he did was play straight man for 27-game winner Steve Carlton.

"He was about 3-and-0 last year when I got this idea it would help me get accustomed to the velocity of the ball if I stood up near the catcher as Steve warmed up," remembers Robinson.

"I asked him if he minded, and he said no. So I got into the habit of doing it and this was about the time he went on his 15-game winning streak. If I didn't go up there right away, he'd start looking for me."

Officials needed

Men interested in certifying for officiating city league slowpitch softball should attend a meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday at this home of Vernon Smith, 916 Blue Lakes.

Recreation Director Chad Browning said rule books and rule changes will be reviewed plus internal housekeeping matters within the officials' association.

Simmons, Barron named at U of I

Gary Simmons, a 1954 graduate of Twin Falls High School, and Robert Irving, who graduated from Rupert High in 1916, will be inducted into the Idaho Hall of Fame Saturday night.

They are two of six men to enter the University of Idaho's all-time honor roll. Others are former Vandal football coach Ted Bank, a Twin Falls product; Carl Killgarrard, Honors Ferry and a football star for the Vandals; Willie Smith, Coeur d'Alene football running back, and Merle Stoddard, also of Coeur d'Alene.

Simmons, who holds the Twin Falls High School career basketball scoring record, is a dentist living in Salinas, Calif. He is Idaho's last all-American selection, that coming to him in 1958 when he led the now-defunct Pacific Coast Conference in scoring.

Twice the SIC (then called Big Six) scoring leader, Simmons also lettered in track at Twin Falls in the hurdles and high jump. He started three years for the Vandals under Coach Harlan Hodges.

Dr. Simmons plans to attend the induction banquet.

Irving, who holds the university record of 74 consecutive conversions in football, is retired and living in Seattle.

Four track meets set Friday in MV

Four track meets are scheduled Friday afternoon by Magic Valley teams as the season gets into full swing. The Twin Falls Bruins, who have lost only one meet going on four years, run into the Highland Rams expected to be their toughest foe in the eastern division of the SIC. Those two along with Skyline will run at 3:30 p.m. Friday at Highland's all-weather track.

Mojo will entertain another eastern division triangular, hosting Idaho Falls and Pocatello at 3:30 p.m. Jerome will go against Burley, Wood River and Wendell in a quadrangular at 3:30 p.m. at the Jerome field. Running events will start about 4:20 p.m., giving the meet a chance to complete most of the field contests.

Filer will host Buhl and Gooding in a triangular at 3:15 at the Wildcat track located behind the Filer elementary school.

FILER — The annual Magic Valley Outlaw basketball tournament, expected to feature a good number of this year's graduating seniors from area high schools, will begin a four-day run at the Filer High School gymnasium tonight.

The tournament will feature four games Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with five Friday night. Action will resume at 1 p.m. Saturday for a four-game session and then wind up with consolation and championship finals at 7 and 8 p.m. Saturday.

Jerome; 8 p.m., Lincoln Inn, Gooding, vs. Farmers Bank of Buhl; 9 p.m., Faux Cigar Store, Buhl, vs. Bean Growers Warehouse of Kimberly; 10 p.m., Hagerman Merchants vs. Royal Catfish of Twin Falls, and 11 p.m., Filer Merchants vs. Buhl Animal Clinic.

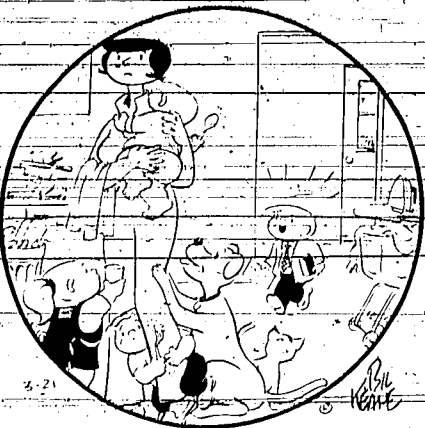

Action resumes at 7 p.m. Thursday with the Richfield Ridgerunners meeting Olympia Bear of Twin Falls; 8 p.m., Shoshone Wounded Knees vs. Upperware of Jerome; 9 p.m., Skaggs Furniture of Burley vs. Jerome Boosters, and 10 and 11 p.m., consolation games between the losers of games one and two and games three and four.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have some particular talents that you can express today, but first confer with an expert. The evening can be particularly romantic. Show that you have poise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to show family and friends devotion. You are also able to get much help from them. Handle only important business matters. Be sure to take health treatments.

There is much intelligence here, so give the right spiritual and ethical training that keeps your progeny on the constructive side of life. Give duties to perform early in life to whet the appetite for work. Fame is possible. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Item No. 45608 from our Love and War-man's file on "How-to-Get-a-Husband" is the following excerpt from a letter written by a fussy female customer: "I was still single at age 26 before I got married. Then, the idea hit me! I took up painting, set up my easel in front of an automotive parts store, and was married within three months."

OH OH, MORE BAD NEWS for the Army: When pollsters queried recent West Point graduates, three out of five said no, if they had it to do all over again, they wouldn't attend that military academy.

DON'T GIVE your lawn a big blast of fertilizer once a year, sir. Give it two little blasts, once in the early spring, then again in late July. That's the counsel of the landscape architects.

PEOPLE WITH LARGE noses are better lovers than those with small noses. Or so contends British psychiatrist Howard Book.

ADD ALSO, PLEASE to that list of candidates for the Proper Job Club the name of J. C. Washam, laundry executive, Salisbury, N. C.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q "I know 'Playboy' magazine is printed in Braille. But what about the sexy centerfold, is it three-dimensional, too, so blind men can run their fingers over it to get the picture?"
A No, sir, the playmates are left out.

Q "WHERE DO cocker spaniels rank on that list of most popular dog breeds in this country?"
A They're No. 9. Right behind Miniature Schnauzers, No. 8.

Q "THE MAN WHO winds up last in any West Point year is called the class goat. I've heard that several of these class goats have turned out to be regular geniuses in battle, right?"

LAW SPECIALTY

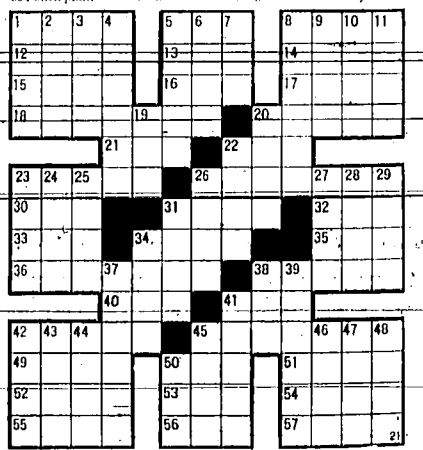

Any aspiring attorney who wants to go into a profitable legal practice might consider specializing in ocean law. Salt water covers 70 per cent of the earth, bear in mind. But few lawyers now know anything about the international rules of territory, exploration and exploitation. The fish and oil boys pay fancy fees, remember. No, expect no bill for this advice, young fellow. I'll just take a judgment against you so we can resolve it sometime down the line.

SAYS AN OLD-TIME BELLHOP with lengthy experience: "If a man and woman call down for drinks as soon as they hit the room, you can figure they're not really hitched. A legal wife just about always insists her husband take her out on the town, not stay cooped up. Even if they're newlyweds, these days."

MAJOR HOOPLE

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices headed higher today on the New York Stock Exchange as some attractively priced issues encouraged buying among traders and investors.

The Dow Jones average of 40 blue-chip industrial stocks gained 5.57 to 935.00, shortly before noon. Advances led declines, 660 to 410, among the 1,522 total issues.

Two-hour volume came to roughly 6,750,000 shares, against 6,510,000 shares in Tuesday's comparable period. The early gain was a follow-up of a partial recovery late Tuesday when investors made some selective purchases under heavy selling pressure.

Economic news was unfavorable. Consumer prices in February, the first full month of Phase III, jumped to the highest level in 22 years, according to a Labor Department report released around the market opening.

International Telephone & Telegraph led the actives, off 1 1/2 at 43 1/2 on volume of 12,500 shares. American Telephone & Telegraph followed with a gain of 1/2 to 51 1/2 on 11,000 shares. General Host Corp. was third, off 1/4 at 18 on 72,000 shares.

Prices were lower on the American Stock Exchange. Wackenhut led the Amex actives with a loss of 2 1/2 to 9 1/2 on 107,100 shares. Amco Industries was off 1/2 to 34 on 34,000 shares. TWA warrants were third, up 1/4 at 200 on volume of 28,200 shares.

On the NYSE, Dow Chemical gained 1 1/2 and DuPont 1 1/2 to pace the higher chemicals. TWA led the firm airlines with a gain of 1 1/2.

Oils were mixed. Superior added 1 1/2. Atlantic Richfield 1 1/2. Mountain Fuel Supply lost 1 1/2.

Man opposes ban on log exports to Japan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., said Monday it would be shortsighted to try to curb sharply rising lumber prices by banning log exports to Japan.

Dellenback said in a House speech that he would not join those members calling for a ban. Instead, he said he was working on legislation to increase the yield of timber from government lands.

The Oregon Republican said the legislation he is considering also would be designed to increase timber production on private lands.

Unfortunately, such long-range goals, as necessary as they are, do nothing to alleviate the supply-price crunch of today," Dellenback concluded.

Federal Trade Commission cites GE, Chrysler men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission said today it plans to issue a complaint against General Electric Co. and Chrysler Corp. because they have an interlock directorate.

The arrangement may be illegal, the FTC said, because both firms make residential and commercial air conditioners and the management set-up could reduce competition between the two.

The proposed complaint specifically cited Edmund W. Littlefield who has been a GE director since 1964 and a Chrysler director since 1969.

The agency proposed that the interlock be ended, that future

Sell old cows, says Butz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, in a gently worded "jabbering" effort to help soften record retail beef prices, today advised cattlemen to cull some of their older beef cows to slaughter this year.

A cattle industry spokesman went a step further and urged producers to "market" some younger female stock along with older cows.

Butz' suggestion to cattlemen was part of the administration pattern of seeking to damp down food inflation by spurring increases in supply rather than using price controls. President Nixon and other top officials have rejected growing pressure for controls on grounds they could lead to shortages and rationing.

Butz' statement said the "time is right for cattlemen to cull their beef breeding herds."

It added: "Live cattle prices have been holding at strong levels. The benefits to producers from selling cull cows at this time are obvious.

"We hope cattlemen will take the advice of the secretary," W.C. McMillan, vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA) commented in an interview.

Most older cows going to slaughter would wind up in processed meat products or hamburger. But McMillan added the ANCA also hopes cattlemen will "market some younger female animals which can be put through feedlots to produce meat for the fresh beef market."

McMillan said such a policy would help consumers this year by stepping up immediate supplies. Cattlemen would be helped in the long run because the policy would slow down the current rapid growth of breeding herds which some experts fear may lead to overproduction and drastic price declines in 1975 and later years, the industry spokesman added.
